Great Atlantic Fleet Arrives
in Home Waters After Winter at Guantanamo

To Give 25,600 Bluejackets
Relaxation of Two Weeks
From Period of Drill

NEW YORK, May 1.—The great Atlantic fleet arrived in home waters early today to give 25,600 bluejackets relaxation of two weeks from their winter period of target practice, and drill off Guantanamo.

The fleet, comprising eight monster battleships, aggregating more than 200,000 tons displacement and more than 40 destroyers, tenders and smaller fighting craft, moved its way in through a heavy mist at dawn to their stations in the Hudson river.

On board the flagship Pennsylvania, with Admiral Henry B. Wilson, commander of the fleet, were Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Admiral Robert E. Coombs, chief of naval operations, who boarded the dreadnought at sea early Friday morning.

The fleet was met down the bay by a squadron of navy seaplanes from the base here and a short time later was greeted by a fleet of destroyers and tugs from the navy yard.

Secretary Daniels and staff officers of the fleet planned to go from the Pennsylvania to the navy yard to inspect the new battleship Tennessee, the latest achievement in American battleship construction which was launched April 30, 1919, and is now 99 per cent complete.

Approximately half the enlisted personnel of the fleet will be on shore leave every day during the stay of the fleet in New York.

The battleships in the fleet, besides the Pennsylvania are the Arizona, Nevada, Oklahoma, Utah, Florida, Delaware and North Dakota.

TROUBLE AT GAS PLANT AVERTED

Following a series of conferences with a delegation representing employees of the plant of the Lowell Gaslight Co. in School street and officials of that company, Mayor Perry D. Thompson today succeeded in averting, temporarily, at least, an interruption of Lowell's gas service.

Employees of the company filed some time ago a petition with the company asking for wage increases and double pay for Sunday work. According to the mayor, the demands were thought too steep by the company and matters had come to a point where the men were ready to stop work tomorrow.

However, for the past two days His Honor has been working unceasingly to bring the parties together although not wishing to act in the role of official arbitrator. A conference was held last evening with a delegation representing the employees, another this morning and this noon the mayor conferred with George S. Motley, president of the company.

SLIGHT INCREASE IN DEATH RATE

The local death rate for the present week was higher than that of last week although not as great as that of two weeks ago. Thirty-six deaths were reported during the week in comparison with 31 last week and 45 two weeks ago. The rates for the three weeks were 17.33, 14.33 and 21.67, respectively. There were 18 deaths of children less than five years old, seven of children less than a year old, two from infectious diseases, ten from pneumonia, one from bronchitis, one from diphtheria and one from tuberculosis.

Infectious diseases reported included the following: Diphtheria, 1; scarlet fever, 4; measles, 2; tuberculosis, 1.

PAYMENTS TO VETERANS

The regular payments to war veterans and their dependents, due the first of every month, were made today at the office of the state department at city hall. The following amounts were paid out: State aid for Civil war veterans, $706; state aid, German war veterans, $25.50; military aid for Civil war veterans, $121; military aid for German war veterans, $30; soldiers' relief, $93.

STATE RESTS IN OTTERTON CASE

Police Officer Silva Cross-
Examined by Counsel for the Defense

Deputy Marshal Testifies to
His Examination of Alleged
Murder Gun

CONCORD, N. H., May 1.—Police Officer J. Edward Silva of Concord was cross-examined this morning by Robert C. Murchie for the defense, in the trial of Marion Loyne Otterson for the murder of her brother-in-law, Maurice Otterson. He said he was constantly with Marion after his arrival at the Otterson home in Hooksett on the night of the murder, until the medical referee arrived and he warned her not to talk with newspapermen. He did not notice such marks on Marion's shoes as might have come from a struggle on the floor with a bandit. Neither did he see scratches on the woman's neck. He noted no inconsistencies in the story she told.

Mrs. Johanna P. Donnelly of 31 Warren street, Dorchester, Mass., was next called, but the testimony was taken subject to objection by the defense. Since her address was given on the official list of witnesses as 31 Warren street. As an employee of the E. P. Horne Jewelry Co. of Boston, she identified a ring shown to her as one sold by the company on May 17, 1916. A manufacturer's number made the identification possible but she had no way of telling to whom the ring was sold. The jewel was said in court to be the one found in a bureau drawer in Marion Otterson's sleeping room.

Deputy Marshal Victor I. Moore of the Concord police force testified to his examination of the alleged murder gun on the night of the tragedy. He said it smelled of burned powder.

The state rested in the Otterson case at 11:20 a. m.

He was present when Marion's injuries were examined by Dr. B. F. Freeman of Suncook. She told Deputy Moore that the bandit who attacked her threw her to the floor face downward. He then turned her over and threw a sweater over her head.

Moore said he did not think there were marks on Marion Otterson's neck but he did not note an irritation of the skin. W. H. Ellison, a travelling salesman, of Concord, told of purchasing gasoline for his automobile from Maurice Otterson's wayside tank early in the evening of November 6, the fatal night, but he could not definitely fix the time of his call. Later he thought it was about 7:15 when he said good-bye to Maurice. The Otterson dog, concerning which much has been said in the course of the trial, was known to Ellison. He described him as a "very noisy" animal.

A recess was taken here and at 11:20 when court reconvened, the state rested.

Robert C. Murchie, opening for the defense, stated that it was the invariable custom of the Otterson family to have at least two members at home, unless the house was closed. Howard Otterson went with his parents to Manchester on the night of the murder because the father, John I. Otterson, could not drive an automobile.

SAW EDUCATIONAL FEATURE PICTURE

The educational feature picture in motion form, released by the vocational department of the Curtis Publishing Co. of Philadelphia, tending to create a feeling among school children that additional school years now will reflect to their advantage in business or vocation later on, was shown to a theatrical of ninth grade grammar youngsters and a fair sprinkling of high school students at Keith's this forenoon at 11 o'clock. The title of the picture is "Thomas Jefferson Morgan," and was secured for Lowell by the Rotary club working in conjunction with School Superintendent Hugh J. Molloy. Free tickets of admission had been previously distributed to all ninth grade pupils in the city.

The object of the picture is to help to persuade boys and girls to remain in school instead of leaving for work and the film shows the advantages which accrue in later years as the result of a year or two more of schooling while the student is in his "teens."

Every City and Industrial Centre Ready to Act at First Sign of Disorder

Reports of Communist Activities to Arouse Workers to "May Day Show of Power" Pour in But No Instance of Violence Yet Reported—Russian Gold Behind Plot—Entire New York Police Force Called—Plot Nipped at Scranton

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Forewarned by the department of justice, those responsible for the maintenance of order in every city and industrial centre were prepared today to act at the first sign of any disorder instigated by radical elements. While reports continued to arrive that communist agitators still were doing all in their power to arouse the workers to a "May day show of power," early today no instance of violence had come from any source.

Assistant Attorney General Garvan expressed the opinion that the precautions taken had materially dampened the ardor of the radical leaders. Special care had been taken to safeguard the members of congress, the three federal judges and an attorney known to the department of justice, to have been selected by the agitators for assassination.

Mr. Garvan announced an "amazing" amount of money had been spent by the communist labor party in the distribution of propaganda and in preparations for demonstration. The money had been traced, he asserted, to Amsterdam, where it had been sent from Russia. A great part of the literature in the possession of the department indicated the work of Russian agents and numerous calls for demonstrations were made in the name of soviet Russia.

Heavy Guard in New York
NEW YORK, May 1.—The dawn of May Day found many cities in the east same time were released this morning by the probation officer.

Just as the hearing of the cases was about to commence, a provost marshal from Camp Devens appeared in court and told Judge Knight that he had been instructed to take the men to the cantonment, where they would be arraigned before the military authorities.

The quintet was accordingly placed in his charge and the cases against the men continued for hearing in the local court on May 22.

Announcement was made by the provost marshal that commencing today a provost guard of 14 men will be assigned to Lowell by Gen. McCain to assist the local police in seeing to it that visiting soldiers conduct themselves in an orderly manner.

MUST PAY $5 POLL TAX

City Solicitor Makes Ruling on British and Canadian Veterans' Plea

Despite the fact that they served in the world war with the allied forces, British and Canadian war veterans of Lowell will have to pay a $5 poll tax this year and for the three following years to provide a bonus for soldiers and sailors who served under the American colors, according to an opinion given today by City Solicitor William D. Regan in response to a communication from the British and Canadian War Veterans' association received yesterday by Mayor Thompson.

The solicitor says that it is clear that the legislature intended that the benefits to be distributed under the provisions of the state bonus act should be disbursed only to those who were in the military or naval service of the United States. His opinion, in full, follows:

April 30, 1920.
British and Canadian War Veterans' Association, Lowell, Mass.
Gentlemen: Your communication of April 23, 1920, addressed to His Honor Perry D. Thompson, mayor of Lowell, has been turned over to this office for attention.

C. 233, General Acts of 1919, is the act creating the bonus and also the imposition of the poll tax to pay in part said bonus. This act provides only that those mustered, enrolled or enlisted in the federal service of the United States in either the army or naval forces during the war with Germany should be entitled to the benefits established under said act.

The act further provides that those who are to receive benefits thereunder shall upon petition to the board of assessors be discharged only to those who were in the military or naval service of the United States, and that only those who so served should be exempt from the payment of the additional tax above the normal poll tax, and then only on petition to the board of assessors for abatement.

It is clear that the legislature intended that the benefits of this act should be distributed only to those who were in the military or naval service of the United States, and that only those who so served should be exempt from the payment of the additional tax above the normal poll tax, and then only on petition to the board of assessors for abatement.

I regret very much in conclusion to inform you that the members of your association who were not in the military or naval service of the United States will have to pay, while resident in the commonwealth, for the period set forth in said act, a poll tax of $5 unless the law is hereinafter amended or changed by the legislature.

Sincerely yours,
WILLIAM D. REGAN,
City Solicitor.

NO MAY DAY DISTURBANCES

Local Mills Take Precautionary Measures to Safeguard
Their Property

Additional Police Protection
Throughout City, With
Special Details at Banks

The morning hours of May Day, the time set for the launching of country-wide anarchistic activities against industrial corporations and men prominent in city, state and national life, passed in undisturbed serenity in Lowell and nothing occurred to mar the economic peace of the community.

Precautionary measures were evident on every hand, however, as evidence of heeding the warnings sent out by the department of justice in relation to the period of time between May 1 and 10 as liable to produce radical demonstrations and possibly serious outbreaks. Practically every textile plant in the city had an extensive special guard system in vogue this morning and which will be continued, it is believed, until all warning signs are withdrawn.

The local police department was on the qui vive for any surface indications of unrest outside the mills. As no industrial agitation has been even threatened among the thousands of operatives all surveillance was confined to a careful watch for any signs of disturbance, outside the pale of actual industry.

All of the national banks in the city and one or two savings banks and trust companies had patrolled stationed at their doors and additional police protection was furnished throughout the entire city by working the men of the department in two 12-hour shifts instead of the customary tours of eight hours. This system also was in effect last night.

A few isolated instances of men being absent from their work were reported, but as far as could be learned no attempt was made by anyone to hold radical meetings or start a demonstration.

SPECIAL SCHOOL FOR STATE GUARDSMEN

A special school of instruction for all officers and non-commissioned officers of the three Lowell companies of the State Guard is being held today between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. at the local armory. The course is being given by the company commanders of the head of Companies B, C and G, and covers infantry drill regulations, tactics and the routine of guard duty.

When it became known today that the special school was in session, it was unofficially rumored that the State Guard companies had been called out for special duty in relation to May day demonstrations, but no such orders have been issued from departmental headquarters and none are contemplated as far as can be learned.

DEBATE MONROE DOCTRINE

Arrangements are under way for a debate between teams representing the L.H.S. alumni and the Greenback Debating society, to be held about the middle of next month in high school hall. The question submitted by the society was that the Monroe doctrine should be abandoned and the alumni has chosen the negative side of the proposition. The alumni team will be Harold Ready, Edward Gallagher and Royal Hayes, former debaters of the high school, and the society team will in part consist of Warren Flood, president of the debating society, and Francis O'Donnell, president of this year's graduating class. The third man has not yet been chosen.

MEMORIAL COMMITTEE

The Pawtucketville memorial committee is continuing its program of social activities to increase the fund for a monument to its world war veterans. Last evening a successful dancing party was held at the Pawtucket hall house and next Friday evening a party will be held at that place by the junior members of the committee. The regular weekly meeting of the memorial committee will be held at the Pawtucket Congregational church on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Plans are practically completed for the carnival to be staged on the Lakeview grounds during the week of May 17 for the benefit of the fund.

WORLD MUST TIGHTEN BELT

Only Way to Provide Enough for All, Says Paul M.
Warburg

Strict Control of Bank Credit or World Will Continue to Gorge Itself and Inflation

NEW YORK, April 30.—The entire world must tighten its belt if there is to be enough for all, and that belt is a strict control of bank credit without which the world will continue to gorge itself and inflate, declared Paul M. Warburg, banker, discussing inflation, its causes and remedies, before the academy of political science here today.

In summing up what he termed the practitioner's advice in the case, Mr. Warburg said: "First, we must fight inflation with all the means at our disposal, by arresting the further increase of government indebtedness and, if possible, reducing it.

Second, by calling a halt in further bank credit and note issue expansion. (We would thereby destroy the atmosphere of easy money and paper prosperity that makes for individual and corporate extravagance and fosters discontent amongst the masses, rendering them disinclined to give their full measure of work. This includes the most difficult task of curbing the production of unessentials and of stimulating the production of essentials.

"And finally, we must fight rising prices by stimulating essential production, both here and abroad which means that we must furnish Europe with the materials required in order to rehabilitate her industries so that once more she may become self-supporting. As far as this involves the granting of further credits it should be our determined purpose to provide them from our savings. If we are incapable or too irresponsible to accomplish this, we must submit to paying for the unsaved balance by inflation. That would prove as we have seen, a wasteful and highly regrettable alternative, but it is easier for us to bear the sacrifice than Europe."

Increase of government indebtedness must be arrested, Mr. Warburg said, and national budgets must be balanced by reduction of expenditures and increase in revenues.

"The insatiable demand for things must be met by increased production and by greater moderation in the extravagant consumption of goods," he continued.

Prediction that Italy will be the first big continental country in Europe to reach the balance of her budget, was made by Prof. B. Attilio, Italian commissioner general for finance to the United States. He said data and facts at present available fully warrant that expectation. Since the armistice, he asserted, the Italian commercial balance is improving most encouragingly.

Discuss High Prices

Bankers, educators and economists of the United States and Europe discussed the facts and causes of inflation and high prices and their remedies, at the semi-annual meeting of the Academy of Political Science which opened here today.

Dr. H. M. Anderson, Jr., of the National Bank of Commerce in New York, speaking at the forenoon session, declared that the shortage of goods and the attendant speculation is the prime cause of present high prices in this country.

"When our enormous export balance disappears and when our domestic markets are called upon to absorb three or four hundred million dollars worth of goods per month which they have not been absorbing, we shall see lower prices," he declared.

The speaker said that increased production had been expected when the five million men withdrawn from industry for the army and navy, returned, but that it had not come.

"In 1919, we produced less by at least 10 per cent. in physical units than in 1917," he said. "Coupled with this decreased production, due to the prolonged strain on our industrial system, came a great increase in our export balance of trade and a great increase in domestic consumption, as our people relaxed from war-time economy and swung to the other extreme. The net result is greater shortages of goods than at the end of the war."

Dr. Anderson declared bank expansion has been "more a passive result than an active cause of the rising prices."

Edwin W. Kemmerer, professor of economics and finance at Princeton University, reviewed the two groups of causes for inflation the country has experienced, classifying them as "non-war causes and war causes."

Two mistaken policies in American war financing, are responsible for inflation, according to Dr. Jacob S. Hollander, professor of political economy of Johns Hopkins University.

"The first," he said, "consisted in issuing bonds at artificially low interest rates with the aid of cheap borrowing facilities at the federal reserve banks, so that bond buyers found it easier to obtain additional credit from the banks to pay their bonds rather than use their savings or such bank deposits as they already had."

"The second and more important way in which the treasury contributed to inflation was by continued adherence, even after the armistice, to its wartime practice of borrowing from the banks by means of certificates of indebtedness.

"Over and above its unwholesome effects upon the money market and upon the nation's finances, certificate borrowing aggravated the problem of high prices by checking or delaying an otherwise probable fall in prices or even contributing to a still higher price level. It did this by reason of the fact that the certificates of indebtedness emitted by the treasury were taken almost entirely by the banks for themselves and their customers, and in either event were paid for by the banks almost entirely by credit."

KEEP PIPES AND DRAINS IN GOOD CONDITION

In the kitchen of her home Sister Mary cooks daily for a family of four adults. She brought to her kitchen an understanding of the chemistry of cooking, gained from study of domestic science in a state university. Consequently the advice she offers is a happy combination of theory and practice. Every recipe she gives is her own, first tried out and served at her family table.

If once a month one will put a strong solution of washing soda down the pipes and drains in the bathroom one may be assured that the pipes are in perfect condition.

Dissolve the powder in boiling water and pour slowly down each pipe. Wait 10 or 15 minutes and then pour quantities of hot water through the drains. This cleans and washes out the pipes thoroughly.

There are very good antiseptic solutions on the market that may be used. However, washing soda is quite cheap and answers the purpose.

Menu for Tomorrow

Breakfast—Stewed dried apricots, soft boiled eggs, hot buttered toast, coffee.

Luncheon—Baked onion puff, brown bread and butter, radishes, fried cakes, tea.

Dinner—Meat pie, casserole of vegetables, candied sweet potatoes, cabbage and beet salad, raisin pie, coffee.

My Own Recipes

In making a meat pie a bit of bacon or ham is an addition to the taste. And the meat, as in hash, should be absolutely free from particles of gristle. Fat should be melted before being used, but is necessary for richness in the gravy. This is one of the nicest ways to use up left-over meat, but the cook must have the confidence of her table and never abuse it.

BAKED ONION PUFF

6 or 8 onions.
2 tablespoons butter.
1½ cups soft bread crumbs.
1-3 cup water in which onions were cooked.

1-3 cup milk.
2 eggs.
Salt.
Paprika.
Cook onions in boiling salted water till soft. Drain and rub through a sieve. There should be 1-3 cups onion pulp. Melt butter, add bread crumbs and liquid and cook until thick and smooth. Beat yolks of eggs till thick and lemon-colored. Add onion pulp to mixture, season with salt and pepper and bring to boiling point. Add egg yolks. Beat whites of eggs till stiff and dry and fold into mixture. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for 25 minutes. Serve at once.

FRIED CAKES

2 eggs.
1 cup sugar.
2 tablespoons hot lard.
1 cup sweet milk.
½ teaspoon salt.
Flour.

Nutmeg.
1 teaspoon soda.
2 teaspoons cream of tartar (rounded).

Beat eggs well and beat in sugar. Add lard. Mix salt and nutmeg in a little flour and add to mixture. Add milk. Mix soda and cream of tartar in flour and add enough more flour to make a soft dough to roll. Roll about ½ inch thick, cut with a fried cake cutter and fry in deep fat. For the fat fry out not more than ¼ pound of suet and add to the lard. This will keep the cakes from soaking fat.

Proposal of a forced loan has been made in France, to liquidate war costs, by which every Frenchman possessing capital of more than 50,000 francs should be required to subscribe.

GIRL WON HUSBAND AND A CARNEGIE MEDAL

PITTSBURGH, May 1.—One silver medal and 11 bronze medals were awarded to heroes yesterday by the Carnegie hero fund commission, in recognition of noteworthy acts by men and women who sought to help others at their own peril. Five of them died, while two were disabled. To these last the commission made monetary grants, $2000 and $50 a month in one case and $1000 in the other. The commission also awarded $5000 for other heroic causes.

One New Englander appears in the list: Miss Lillian C. Hallett, an 18-year-old school teacher of 74 Lyndhurst street, Dorchester, Mass., who saved another teacher from drowning at Silver beach, Mass., Aug. 21, 1916, who was awarded a bronze medal.

Miss Hallett saved Roy G. Greene, a school teacher, and H. Wellington Carrick, a student, from drowning near Plymouth. Miss Hallett saw Greene and Carrick struggling in water seven feet deep and swam 175 feet to their aid. Carrick, becoming exhausted, had called "for help."

When Greene went to his side he climbed on Greene in such a fashion that Greene was forced to the bottom. Miss Hallett broke Carrick's hold, drew Greene to the surface and swam 60 feet with Carrick to shallow water. Greene, though weak, swam to safety.

Romance resulted from the efforts of Miss Hilda M. Clark of 2739 Maryland ave., Baltimore, to save the life of J. Fitch King, a student at Huron, O., Sept. 7, 1916. King was seized with a cramp while swimming in Lake Erie and was rescued by Miss Clark, whose name now appears on the records of the commission as "Miss J. Fitch King."

CLUB CITIZENS-AMERICANS

A dance and social was held last evening in C.C.A. hall, Middle street, the affair being conducted under the auspices of Club Citizens-Americans. There was a large attendance and the program was a most enjoyable one. FARMERS' BALL WAS BIG SUCCESS

Farmers and farmerettes danced away the hours last evening at the farmers' ball, held in the Sacred Heart school hall under the auspices of the Social club. The large number present, most of them dressed in the toga of Robeville, enjoyed the occasion immensely, and when not dancing they entered into the merriment of trying their luck at the various booths arranged about the hall.

A concert from 8 to 8:30 was followed by the grand march of the farmers and farmerettes, who were competing for the prizes. Costumes ranged from the dress of the country housemaid and milkmaid to the women's fancy dress, and from the ordinary overall worker and hay-raker to the conservative country minister. All the "gabbling" country separators were lined on either side of the parade. The judges of the costume contest were Mayor Thompson, Hon. James B. Casey and Commander Luther Faulkner of the American Legion. In presenting the prizes Mayor Thompson expressed his pleasure at being among the "farmers," and said he hoped they would all act as such during the summer in raising garden foods to help reduce the high cost of living.

Miss Charlotte Flanagan, president, dressed in a unique costume of a farmerette, accepted the first club prize for the "Just-a-Minute Girls," and Miss Hazel Cornell, dressed as a parson, received the second club prize for the "R-U-With-Us Girls." The individual prizes were awarded to Miss Loretta Doyle for the most original and to Miss Lucy Sharkey for the neatest costumes. Both these girls received "mysterious" prizes, "something very useful." James Hearn won a prize as being the neatest of the young men. He was dressed as a dairyman, all in white.

Toile and fancy articles were sold at country stores in the corners of the hall, where games of chance also drew interested customers.

During the evening there were "right smart parade jabs," "jassy music, by heck," and "pretty farmerettes, b'gosh." Such expressions as these were on the dance order opposite the numbers.

Rev. Fr. Fletcher, O.M.I., Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O.M.I., Rev. William P. Mahan, O.M.I., and Rev. John H. Doherty, O.M.I., all of the Sacred Heart church, were present.

Those in immediate charge were: Douglas Smith, boss farmer; Joseph Conroy, assistant boss farmer; John Sheehan, foreman; Timothy Sheehan, assistant foreman; Fred Sharkey, boss haymaker; James Keenan, bank keeper.

Triangular Regatta on Charles

CAMBRIDGE, May 1.—The weather forecast and the appearance of the skies early today presaged favorable conditions for the triangular regatta between Harvard, Princeton and Pennsylvania crews on the Charles river basin late today. Over a mile and seven-eighths course the "varsity" crews of the three universities will race in the early evening. The freshmen crews of Harvard and Princeton will start over the course at 5 o'clock. Their second crews will then have their race, and the triangular "varsity" event will come last.

Severe Fighting at Chita

VLADIVOSTOK, April 29.—Severe fighting is in progress at Chita, Trans-Baikalia, between the forces of General Voitzkeffsky, the sole remnant of Admiral Kolehak's army in Trans-Baikalia and the opposing Bolshevik faction, according to reports from a Russian source. The Japanese are declared to be supporting General Voitzkeffsky.

The Japanese representative here declares that the action of the Japanese troops has been sanctioned by the allies. Japanese reinforcements are constantly arriving in Vladivostok.

PROTESTS THROUGH "AGONY COLUMNS"

LONDON, April 24.—A Scotch Golf enthusiast, who was too polite to make a face to face protest against another player's objectionable manners, but too aggrieved to remain silent, recently inserted this advertisement in the "Agony Columns" of several London newspapers:

"Would the individual with the handicap of 18 and the large voice, who backs his way round a certain suburban course, reflect that his golfing adventures do not interest other members to the extent he would think?"

HOLD COUNTY FAIR
The County Fair being held in the rooms of the Girls' club in the Runels building today had an auspicious opening last night when many members of the club and friends enjoyed all the features incident to a sure-enough circus. Three judges were given the thankless task of picking winners from the many features on parade and while the final selection was in favor of the circus stunts of Companies A and B, others came in for high honorable mention and serious consideration. Dancing followed the "fair." The ways and means committee of the club, Miss Noreen Graffam, chairman, had general charge of the arrangements. The money raised will go toward a fund for the installation of gymnasium lockers.

TROOPS MASSED AT ALL STRATEGIC POINTS

PARIS, May 1.—Troops were massed at all strategic points in full strength today to cope with possible disorders in connection with the May Day celebration. Police officers were everywhere in evidence.

Few taxicabs circulated in the streets, which were generally more deserted than ever before seen. The clatter of an occasional cavalry detachment was the only noise to break the calm, but the resentment of the officers was visible in their changed expressions as the patrols passed. There was a brisk business in the sale of small red artificial flowers.

The marching of many companies by high school students excited some subdued threats among the strikers, but no violence was reported during the forenoon. The executive committee of the federation of labor planned to meet at 4 p.m. under the presidency of Leon Jouhaux, to decide whether general strike orders which are understood to have already been issued should be released, should be put into effect to continue the general strike after May Day to support the program of the railroad men.

Brigadier Bonneau of the republican guard was shot in the back last night outside a hall at the conclusion of a communist meeting, but was not dangerously wounded. Police Inspector Lecomte was assaulted at the same time. The special train for Havre connecting with the steamer sailing today for New York left promptly on time.

Carmen Strike; Ask 90 P.C. Increase

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 1.—Street car traffic in Rochester was at a standstill today, the employees at a meeting early today voting to go on strike, notwithstanding an agreement between their international union, the Amalgamated Association of Street & Electric Railway employees and the company to arbitrate all differences. The men demand an increase of approximately 90 per cent. The company made a compromise offer, the terms of which have not been made public, but the men refused to accept it.

Reduce Price of Milk in Boston

BOSTON, May 1.—The retail price of milk in Boston for May and June was set today at 16½ cents per quart, a reduction of three-quarters of a cent, by one of the largest distributing companies here. The reduction was made after the New England Milk Producers' association agreed to a similar cut in the price to be paid by the distributors. The company making the announcement said it would welcome an investigation of published charges that the dealers were attempting to curtail milk production by procuring the slaughter of milk cows in order to maintain the price of milk. The state senate on Thursday adopted an order requesting the attorney general to investigate these charges.

New Haven Bakers Threaten to Strike

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 1.—Union bakers here have notified the master bakers that if demands for higher wages and shorter hours are not met tonight, a strike will be declared. An increase of $8 a week is asked, the work day to be 7½ hours instead of 8. The master bakers offer an increase, but insist that the hours remain the same.

Grand Jury Returns 26 Indictments

BOSTON, May 1.—The federal grand jury which in secret session, has been investigating alleged profiteering by coal dealers has adjourned without returning any but routine indictments. Twenty-six indictments were brought in, none of which had to do with the coal inquiry, it was learned today.

Want Pink Cheeks—Red Lips?

Some unfortunate men and women are prone to wonder why some of their friends are blessed with an abundance of color—pink cheeks and red lips while theirs are always colorless. The reason for this last named condition is—there is not enough red blood corpuscles in the blood—under a microscope the blood is thin and watery. The flesh is flabby too. Well known physicians assert that the regular administration for several months, of three grains hypodermic tablets will greatly improve the color, add to the weight, make the cheeks pink and the lips red and in general be very beneficial. The well-known fact that color comes from any of the best complexioners.

ORGANIZATION OF SOCIETY OF AMERICAN MILITARY ENGINEERS ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The organization of the Society of American Military Engineers was announced here today by General Lansing H. Beach, chief of engineers of the United States army. The organization will include in its membership both officers and enlisted men who served in the engineering units during the war, either in the United States or abroad. Local posts will be formed in various places.

Many of the supporters of Herbert Hoover refer to him as "Herbert Over." That is not strange considering Mr. Hoover's long residence in London.

Has Attorney General Palmer been needlessly alarmed over the alleged plots for anarchy riots on May Day? He certainly has caused considerable anxiety in some quarters in announcing that a number of assassinations were planned.

LIBERTY BONDS

There is much talk about the market price of Liberty bonds now quoted at 83 per cent. In some quarters, it is charged that the government has thus fleeced the people after the manner of stock gamblers. That is not so. The purchasers of Liberty bonds lose nothing. If they keep their bonds they will receive the full amount of interest agreed upon and will finally be paid back the principal as provided in the terms of the bond. Keep your bonds. Uncle Sam will make good all his promises.

THE OIL SUPPLY

In addition to other difficulties it seems that this country is threatened with a scarcity of gasoline and crude oil. At present the supply of gasoline is reported to be so limited that the government is considering the means of controlling the supply or limiting the use of motor vehicles.

It is alleged that capital borrowed in the United States at 5 and 6 per cent interest, has been used by other nations to secure available oil lands throughout the world.

The question of oil supply came up at the San Remo conference. It is understood that England has laid plans to secure control of all the principal oil fields she can get hold of in Asia. She has vast territories from which to draw her supply and, nevertheless, it is stated that she has pre-empted a large source of supply in Mexico. It would seem that our government has been asleep, as it were, while others have been capturing the principal oil fields of the world.

SCHOOL PHYSICIANS

The state department of labor and industry has reported relative to the work of school physicians, claiming that the children leaving school to enter industrial activities are not properly examined to ascertain whether they are physically fit to enter upon the work to which they are to be assigned. In all probability, there is good ground for such criticism. It is true that the doctors have not made a thorough physical examination of every school pupil on leaving the class room to enter a factory or work of some other kind.

In the first place, there would be serious objection from the parents to such an examination of their children by the school physicians. It can hardly be expected that the physicians, now receiving a mere pittance for their services, would give so much time to the work as would be required by the thorough examination of each member of a graduating class. As we have already said, the doctors are not sufficiently paid, and the school board has not laid down with sufficient clearness the precise nature and extent of their work. If the physicians are required to perform certain duties they will undoubtedly attend to them or else resign, but it cannot be expected that they will devote much of their time to school work without reasonable compensation.

CHECKING SPECULATION

In order to put the necessary check upon speculation, the Federal Reserve bank has increased the rate of interest upon loans so as to limit the amount of credit that their patrons can obtain. This is a very necessary precaution against over-speculation which in many cases in the past has brought a financial crash upon the country resulting in the ruin of many institutions and a general business depression. In view of the craze now so common to acquire wealth by every means possible, it is fortunate that there is some barrier in the path of those who would plunge too deeply in debt so that they could have no hope of meeting their obligations.

In this connection it may be well also to advise those who are saving money to place it in the banks which are obliged to comply with strict laws for the protection of depositors. Those who hand their earnings to irresponsible parties on the mere promise of large profits are taking a serious risk. Large dividends obtained at the risk of losing the principal are not likely to bring much comfort to those who receive them. That sort of speculation has ruined thousands of unsuspecting people, and yet we fear that the present generation has not learned much from the experience of the past in dabbled with get-rich-quick schemes.

WILL THE MILLS ACT?

The housing problem in Lowell is daily becoming more acute, and there is no movement for relief in any quarter. Neither the municipal council nor the Chamber of Commerce has taken up the housing question in a way that would help to provide more dwellings for the people.

When families are thrown out on the street today, they have no agency to which they can look for assistance. It seems to us that the local mills have here an opportunity of showing their willingness to help their employees. If the mills combined to erect even temporary homes for such of their employees as cannot find tenements, they would render a great service to this community. It is needless to cite instances in which families are ordered out without being able to find any place whatsoever to which they can move. We know of one block occupied by five families who have been ordered to vacate. They offered to pay a liberal increase in their rent but it would not be accepted, as the purchaser intends to make some changes and then charge a much higher rent, or perhaps sell the property at a large profit.

This is but one of many cases that might be cited, showing the extremes to which families are driven by speculators in real estate and profiteering sharks who buy property for the sole purpose of raising the rents and increasing the income.

BRAIN CHANNELS

Let two men engage in a political argument. Seldom is either convinced. On the contrary. Each goes away more than ever certain that he, himself, is right.

Women consider such arguing a weakness of men. Their belief that it is futile is correct. Why this is so is explained by the French psychologist, Gustave Le Bon.

He says the convictions of an electorate are not created by reasoning or argument. But by four other methods. These are: Affirmation, repetition, contagion, prestige.

One person, simply by affirming his opinion, does influence another. The simpler and more concise his declaration the greater its influence.

Repetition of an opinion on many occasions makes it more convincing. This is well known to all experienced writers of advertisements.

A person tends to be convinced by the fact that many about him hold an opinion. It is a form of imitation. But imitation must be easy. The thought must be easily grasped. That's why ideas which seem strange win little support, and those who present them are said to be "in advance of their times."

Prestige, the fourth influence, is sometimes personal, sometimes, acquired. Many classic books have such prestige. They are thought to be fine, even by persons who, if they attempted to read them in this day, would be bored. The moment the merit of a person or idea seems questionable the prestige is lost.

Many had need all this as an argument against popular government. That argument is false. For the political convictions of the most highly educated are formed in exactly the same way as the convictions of the uneducated, says Le Bon.—N. E. A.

THE ONE BIG UNION

There are advocates of the One Big Union abroad in this country today, their avowed purpose being to form a union so large that they will be able to stop the wheels of industry all over the country, seize the industries and the property and take over the government.

Men are going about preaching this doctrine under our boasted principle of free speech. Among the number are Big Bill Haywood, who is well known hereabouts on account of his activities in the original I. W. W. strike in Lawrence. There are various other professional agitators engaged in this same business, their intention being to get together a great union to take the place of the I. W. W. and carry out the main purposes of that organization now under the ban very generally throughout the country.

Another leader similarly engaged, is Fred G. Biedenkapp, secretary-treasurer of the Brotherhood of Metal Workers, who in a speech in the Dudley Street Opera House in Boston last Sunday, declared openly without any equivocation whatever for "One Big Union" and to promote that object he said his policy is to declare strikes in order that they may fail and thus spur the strikers to more radical action. Another function of the One Big Union is to encourage class hatred.

The American laborer must be taught according to this policy, "that his employer is his natural enemy."

It seems that when any man thus avowedly acknowledges that his purpose is revolutionary and that he aims at the overthrow of our form of government to make way for anarchy, then it is time for the Department of Justice to act firmly and fearlessly. Yet Haywood and Biedenkapp are still enjoying their freedom and traveling over the country sowing the seeds of discontent, disloyalty and class hatred.

TO LIGHTEN TAX BURDENS

There is a widespread agitation in the favor of drastic changes in the present system of taxation, chiefly in reference to sur-taxes and the excess profits tax. Already several bills are before congress with this end in view. Some very radical propositions have been made as a means of procuring revenue to pay the proposed bonus to soldiers.

One of these would assess a sur-tax of 100 per cent upon the amount by which incomes exceed $250,000. Another would place a tax of 100 per cent upon the excess of $500,000. The sur-tax in each case would be levied after the exemption of $3000 and 8 per cent on invested capital is deducted by corporations and it would also apply to individuals after making the existing exemptions. Still another bill has for its object the taxation of large profits made under the cost plus system during the war.

This would be retroactive and is open to the objection of violating government contracts legally entered into under the stress of war.

Another bill would reduce the tax burden on business enterprises by $1,000,000,000 and raise a like amount of revenue by a federal tax of one per cent on the privilege of holding land whether urban or agricultural, or producing coal, oil, mineral, timber, water power or any other utility and valued irrespective of improvements at over $10,000.

Behind this bill there is a strong combination of manufacturers and merchants who complain that the present system of taxation curtails production, thus injuring the country, whereas, the taxation on land would induce the owners to make it productive in some form. There can be no doubt that this method seems to be at least more reasonable than any of the others proposed.

The republicans in congress, following their old time policy of adding to the burdens of the consumers, would raise the bonus revenue by a tax on sales against which, however, a great protest has gone up from every part of the country.

One thing certain is, that there is a great deal of discontent over the present system of taxation while there is very little unanimity as to how the necessary revenue can be raised by a less objectionable means. It is probable, however, that out of the present array of bills and propositions for changes in the system, some method may be devised that will be more just to the people, less oppressive to industry and that will encourage rather than penalize industrial enterprise and general production.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

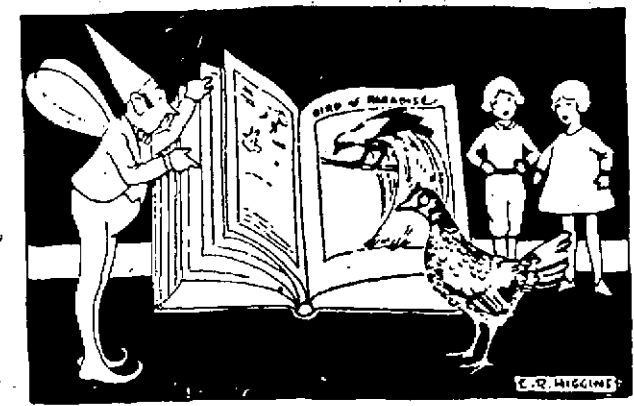

THE STRANGER ARRIVES

There was a grand scramble when Rubadub told the twins to get ready for the Bird-of-Paradise. They shooed all the other birds out right away—and poor Will Woodpecker only half done, too!

Then they got out all their best feathers. Rubadub said he had saved for twenty years for just such an occasion as this. And the loveliest shades of pink, and silver powder, and gold powder, and what not! For a course the light was dim, but there was enough of it to see that the visitor was certainly not as gorgeous as her picture. Really she was quite plain and dressed in very dark brown.

The magical mushroom whispered to Nancy that her name might as well be Bird-of-the-Baronyard, as Bird-of-Paradise, and was about to say some more uncomplimentary things, when the lady herself remarked, "I've come a long way, of course, I just wore my traveling clothes. But when I return,

HE BROUGHT THE BEST BIRD BOOK QUITE CLOSE SO SHE COULD SEE

Bird-of-Paradise, you must know, is the grandest bird in all the world. Indeed, Nick and Nancy nearly lost their breath when the fairyman showed them her wonderful picture in the Best Bird Book.

Then they lowered all the shades (for Rubadub said she had specially asked to have it dark) and when everything was ready the fairyman opened the door.

And in walked the stranger! Of no doubt, the weather will be quite fine, so I can wear my new gown home. Can you begin it right away?

Rubadub said they could, and would, and asked if the dress she wore in the picture was the kind she wanted. And he brought the Best Bird Book quite close so she could see.

"Yes!" gasped the lady. "Is that really the Bird-of-Par-? I mean, yes, indeed! That's exactly what I want!"

I'm-Making Justice

After having been fined $5 and costs the ex-prisoner addressed some rather strenuous language to the judge and then ran with all his might. An officer captured him and brought him before the justice, who fined him $10 more.

"Had you been chaste and refined in your language," said the justice, "you would not have been chased and re-fined."

Some Fun Story

"I never eat bugs," the comedian said sadly. "They remind me of a horrible experience I had once."

The listeners drew near, thrilled by the tenderness of his tones.

"I was on a ship in midocean," went on the comedian dramatically. "Her cargo was self-raising flour and currants, and a theatrical company. Suddenly, in the dead of night, we ran into an iceberg."

"There were no boats, so things looked desperate for us. The huge waves dashed over the sides and down the hatchways."

"Then we heard a curious noise. The water had got to the self-raising flour and presently it began to come up in large bubbles, like buns, with the currants mixed up in it."

"As the great lumps of dough floated on the water the heat of the sun baked them hard. I got on top of one of the biggest and floated away from the sinking ship."

"But, alas! the ocean thereabouts was full of sharks and they seemed to like my bun. Anyway, they nibbled and nibbled at it, and daily it grew less, until I had hardly room to hang on. I got washed ashore just when there were only two bites of bun left for them."

"Ever since then," he added, with a sigh, "I haven't been able to look at a bun without shivering."

When the World Was Young

Oh! it felt upon a day
When all the world was young;
I sat down by my true love's side
And kissed her fondly as my bride.

And out upon the road together
We started in the sunshine weather.
It was a most entrancing world,
A laughing world, a dancing world,
A romantic and romantic world,
And straight across its path we hung,
For you and I and love were young!

Ah! me! it felt upon a day
When all the world was bleak and gray
I knelt beside my true love's bed
And could not weep that she was dead.

For had I given my love to sorrow,
My weeping were not done tomorrow.
For oh! it was a dreary world,
A weeping world, a weary world,
A troublesome and gray world,
And straight upon my face I hung,
For oh! for increased grave was young!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

It possibly is not generally known just how much the acquisition of adjacent land and buildings will mean to the Lowell Normal school. While Mr. Mahoney was principal we heard him say on several occasions that a dormitory was one of the school's greatest needs and this has been actively taken up by Mr. Ward, the present principal. It is felt that young women are being kept away from the school each year because of the necessity of daily travel between the school and their homes and that if this could be eliminated, it would immediately work for the betterment of the institution. At present girls attend the schools from cities and towns within a radius of 25 miles and many do not wish two train trips a day, the registration is smaller than it should be. If the Parker estate is purchased, as now seems assured, it will afford the school a long-sought-for chance to stretch out and not only will it relieve congestion within the school, but will add to its prestige among the normal schools of the state.

WILL BE BURIED WITH MAY DAY IN PARIS

MILITARY HONORS

Ralph G. Hurd, one of the first Lowell men to give up his life in the world war in France, will be buried with military honors in the Edson cemetery tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, the first of the city's dead to be brought back from France.

His body arrived in Lowell at 7:30 last evening and was met at the Mid-dlesex street station by a large number of people who stood with heads uncovered at the sealed casket, draped in American flags, was taken from the train. The Lowell post of the American Legion was represented by Capt. Wilfred C. MacBrayne.

Accompanying the body from Hoboken, N. J., where it had been brought from France by a transport, was Private R. N. Miller of Co. D, 13th Infantry, and Eugene F. Hurd, brother of the dead soldier. From the station the body was taken to the undertaking rooms of George W. Healey, in Branch street.

Burial services will be conducted in the Edson cemetery chapel at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon by Rev. George Sturtevant and the local post of the American Legion will hold military services at the grave.

Hurd was only 16 years old when he enlisted in Co. G of the old 16th Regiment on March 24, 1917, one of the first men of his city to join the colors. He served with this unit in their preliminary training period in this country and when the regiment became part of the new 104th Regiment, he went to France.

He entered the front line trenches early in February, 1918, and saw three weeks of strenuous service before the opening of the great drive of the Germans in March. On February 25 his skull was fractured by a fall, resulting in his death. He was buried in Brest.

When arrangements were being made to bring home this country's dead from France, the government announced that those buried in Brest and other French seaports would be the first to be brought home. Accordingly, Hurd's mother, Mrs. M. A. Hurd, of 3 Myrtle street, requested that her son's body be sent to Lowell and it was one of the first to reach this country.

Hurd, who was a private in the 104th Regiment and who was formerly employed in the office of Bright, Sears & Co., is survived by his mother; a sister, Helen M., and two brothers, Robert D. and Eugene Hurd.

WEIGHING MACHINES GOOD INVESTMENT

More than 12,000 Lowell people were sufficiently interested in their weight in the past two months to drop a penny in one of the white enamel weighing machines installed in both the men's and women's sections of the comfort station in Paige street, according to an examination of the machines made yesterday by a representative of the Detroit firm which installed them with the permission of Commissioner George E. Marchand of the public property department.

One machine was placed in the men's section of the station and another in the women's section. Yesterday afternoon Commissioner Marchand and a representative of the firm had the machines opened and a galvanised iron pall to within one inch of the top was required to carry all the pennies that were taken out of the penny receptacle.

The receipts from the men's department filled the pall three-quarters way and the remainder was filled by pennies taken from the machine in the women's section. A number of dimes, one of the old tokens formerly used on the street railway system, a cent with a hole, and one or two other "phony" contributions had been put in the slot, but $123 in genuine United States currency was garnered as a result of two months' business. According to the contract made by Commissioner Marchand with the Detroit firm handling the scales, half of the receipts are to go to the city and half to the firm. As a result, the coffers of the public property department were enriched by $61.50 yesterday afternoon.

Complete Calm Reigned This Morning, Workers' Celebration Orderly

PARIS, May 1.—(Havas).—Complete calm reigned in Paris this morning, workers who were participating in the May Day celebration being very orderly. Troops were on guard at all railroad terminals, however, to guard against any outbreak. Traffic at the North station was almost normal, there being only a few strikers who quit work for the day. Mail service was in operation as usual but no newspapers were published.

Advices from Strasbourg stated the situation was very good, as labor unions decided not to call out their men. Even the socialist newspapers of that city have advised workers to remain at their posts. Railroad employees at Lille decided to stop work, but citizens have formed an organization to operate public services.

Throughout Paris, all shops and cafes remained closed and partial service was maintained by the subway and motor buses. Inquiry at various terminals showed the north and east systems working on an almost normal basis, while the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean line was only slightly affected by the strike. Students of a number of great schools replaced missing workers and maintained service. The only systems seriously embarrassed by defections of workers were the Orleans and state roads which were operated on very reduced schedules.

Ideal weather prevailed and a holiday atmosphere pervaded the city.

FAIRMOUNTS' DANCE

Attended by a large crowd of Lowell's young people, the 19th annual dancing party of the Fairmounts, held in Associate hall last evening, proved one of the most successful events of the season. Cabaret numbers were offered by Miss Lillian Evans, and the dance program was one of real enjoyment. The officers were: General manager, John King; assistant general manager, William Callahan; floor director, Edward Liston; assistant floor director, Frank Rogers; chief aid, Fred Coombs; treasurer, William Walsh; aids, Frank Roane, John Shaugnessy, Patrick Maguire and Martin Cosgrove.

WILL NOT PARADE

SEVEN BARKS

Nearly half a century is a long time to faithfully serve the public, but that is what SEVEN BARKS, one of nature's greatest remedies to mankind, has been doing.

SEVEN BARKS has not been extensively advertised, but has enjoyed a wonderful and steady sale for many, many years, and purely upon its merits.

To those who may not be acquainted with the value of SEVEN BARKS we would say that it is absolutely a harmless and remarkable remedy, made from the extracts of different kinds of roots and herbs, every one of which has great medicinal value, scientifically blended, and for many, many years has been a reliable remedy for indigestion, constipation, liver, kidney and stomach disorders.

SEVEN BARKS has saved thousands of families large doctor's bills, as well as untold suffering. It is inexpensive—only 60 cents per bottle—which will last a long time, as the dose is from 10 to 20 drops in a little water after meals.

There is hardly a family but what some member is more or less frequently troubled with Biliousness, Indigestion, Liver or Kidney disorder. If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS, do not fail to do so, and watch the rapid and wonderful results.

Don't put off asking your druggist for SEVEN BARKS. If he does not happen to have it on hand, he will get it for you.—Adv.

M. E. CONFERENCE

Quadrennial Session Opens at Des Moines

DES MOINES, Ia., May 1.—The quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church opened today to continue through May. Bishop Joseph Berry of Philadelphia presided at the opening session. Fourteen nationalities were represented, and there were 41 women among the 550 delegates. One-half of the delegates are ministers and the others laymen.

One of the first questions to come before the gathering will be selection of a successor to Edwin Locke of Topeka, Kas., former secretary, who died recently.

Selection of probably eight or ten new bishops will come before the conference. It was said, but the exact number to be chosen will not be known until the bishopric committee reports.

Other questions to be decided include: Unification with the Methodist Episcopal church south; the carrying forward of the enlarged program of world wide work; discussion of proposed changes in the discipline relative to amusements and a proposal to unite all the missionary and charitable activities of the church.

Preliminary to the general conference, the national board of control of the Epworth league held its annual session. It was decided to name a secretary for Mexico and to request that Bishop A. W. Leonard of San Francisco be retained as president.

Fuel requirements of shipping board vessels alone for this year are 40,000,000 barrels of oil, and for next year 60,000,000 barrels.

1500 RADICAL SUSPECTS
ARRESTED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, May 1.—Federal, state and city authorities in the central and western states, who were prepared today to deal with possible threats of disturbances in connection with the observance of May Day, generally predicted no violence would be attempted. In Chicago more than 1500 radical suspects and alleged criminals were arrested in a police roundup.

Scores of suspects were sent away from Chicago, the police said, when it was found they had criminal records but there was not sufficient evidence to hold them.

Chicago members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, remained away from work today but it was said May Day was a holiday recognized in their union contracts.

No permits for parades in Chicago were requested.

In the northwest, reports to St. Paul indicated that no large demonstrations were planned.

In the southwestern states, no information indicating unlawful events might be expected had been received.

At Kansas City, Mo., meetings were planned in compliance with Mayor Cowell's proclamation urging the day be observed as "American Day."

Members of the American Legion in Indianapolis, planned to parade in a protest against "red flag demonstrations."

Communist literature appeared in St. Louis but federal officials said they had no reports of organized demonstrations.

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" Keeps the Stomach and Liver in order

F. R. ADAMS

154 Elm St., Lakeport, N. H.

"I realize that I have reached the age (65) when one often requires fixing up. My digestion was not right and trouble with my Liver and Bowels caused considerable distress.

I could not get rid of 'the Constipation'; and the insufficient action of my bowels resulted in my blood absorbing the poisons.

Last fall, I began taking 'Fruit-a-lives' or Fruit Liver Tablets, and after using them for a short time I could see they were just what my system required. My liver became active and improvement in every way was apparent.

I doubt whether anyone could feel better than I do; and I am willing to give credit where credit is due, to 'Fruit-a-lives'." F. R. ADAMS.

RECOUNT OF JOHNSON-WOOD VOTE IN N. J.

NEWARK, N. J., May 1.—Chief Justice William S. Gummere, of the supreme court today signed an order for a recount of the vote cast in last Tuesday's presidential preferential primaries for Senator Hiram W. Johnson and Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, republican candidates.

The recount will be for the entire state and will begin on May 10 in five counties, where Johnson's supporters allege that mistakes had been made in tabulations.

The sum of $50,000 must be deposited by Senator Johnson before the recount will begin, to defray expenses entailed by the various county boards.

The Justice's reason for allowing the recount to start in the first five counties, he said, was to give Johnson supporters opportunity to abandon the contest should it be shown by the recount in these counties that the result was not materially changed.

CUP DEFENSE SLOOPS SLIDE FROM WAYS

BRISTOL R. I., May 1.—The cup defense candidate sloop Resolute was started down the ways at the builders' yards today, from the shed where it had been stored four years, but the launching was postponed with the yacht 12 feet from the water, when it was decided that tidal conditions were not of the best. Arrangements were made to have the Resolute take the water at high tide this evening, without formal ceremony.

Vanitie Takes Water

Captain Turner and 23 of the crew of the Shamrock arrived last night on the steamship Lapland, and are expected to arrive at City Island today, where the Shamrock also is lying.

ESCAPED CONVICT SHOT AND CAPTURED

NORTHAMPTON, May 1.—George J. Wallz, a convict who escaped from the Rutland prison hospital last fall and afterward terrorized several places in this vicinity, was captured today after being shot by Constable Jack Trainor of Haydenville, while trying to escape from a posse that had been scouring the countryside for him for several days. He was brought to a hospital here and is expected to recover.

Nerves That Nag

The brain and nervous system are the preferred creditors of the body. They have first call upon the supply of food and force. At all costs—at the expense of any other organs and tissues they must be satisfied and supplied. If not they nag. The old saying that neuralgia is the cry of a nerve for food, expresses this truth. You cannot goad or fog suffering, starving nerves, to healthy action. They must be fed. You can live on your nerves—for a time, but when you drop, you find your entire system, blood, muscular organs and tissues exhausted and unable to recuperate. This explains why nervous disease is so difficult to treat, so slow to be recovered from, often so hard to "cure." Drugs cannot cure nervous disease. Tonics serve temporarily. Stimulants spur for a time—then fail. Sedatives serve transiently, but do no permanent good. Sick nerves exhausted by age, must be fed, nourished, built up, made over and then brought back to health. When nerves begin to nag it is time to take notice, to heed Nature's protest, to take, not drugs, but food-medicine. Food-medicine acts by rebuilding and repairing, making good the loss, helping tired, exhausted or lazy cells to regain their normal power of performance. Therefore when your nerves begin to nag, it will be well to take Father John's Medicine which contains no drugs, no alcohol, no narcotic, no stimulant, but one of Nature's best food-medicines, that is intended to nourish and repair blood, brain and nervous system. Father John's Medicine is agreeable to take. It has been time tested and trial proven over a period of more than sixty years by thousands of people. The natural food-medicine which it contains, has been divided and sub-divided by wonderfully devised machinery into such tiny particles that require the use of a microscope to see them as such. This means that they require practically no digestion, but can be taken up and absorbed by the body cells, and made immediately available for use. A trial will convince.—Adv.

Great Atlantic Fleet Arrives
in Home Waters After Win-

To Give 25,600 Bluejackets
Relaxation of Two Weeks
From Period of Drill

NEW YORK, May 1.—The great Atlantic fleet arrived in home waters early today to give 25,600 bluejackets relaxation of two weeks from their winter period of target practice, and drill off Guantanamo.

The fleet, comprising eight monster battleships, aggregating more than 200,000 tons displacement and more than 40 destroyers, tenders and smaller fighting craft, moved its way in through a heavy mist at dawn to their stations in the Hudson river.

On board the flagship Pennsylvania with Admiral Henry B. Wilson, commander of the fleet, were Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Admiral Robert E. Coontz, chief of naval operations, who boarded the dreadnought at sea early Friday morning.

The fleet was met down the bay by a squadron of navy seaplanes from the base here and a short time later was greeted by a fleet of destroyers and tugboats from the navy yard.

Secretary Daniels and staff officers of the fleet planned to go from the Pennsylvania to the navy yard to inspect the new battleship Tennessee, the latest achievement in American battleship construction which was launched April 30, 1919, and is now 99 per cent complete.

Approximately half the enlisted personnel of the fleet will be on shore leave every day during the stay of the fleet in New York.

The battleships in the fleet beside the Pennsylvania are the Arizona, Nevada, Oklahoma, Utah, Florida, Delaware and North Dakota.

STATE RESTS IN OTTERTON CASE

Police Officer Silva Cross-
Examined by Counsel for the Defense

Deputy Marshal Testifies to
His Examination of Alleged
Murder Gun

CONCORD, N. H., May 1.—Police Officer J. Edward Silva of Concord was cross-examined this morning by Robert C. Murchie for the defense, in the trial of Marion Layne Otterson for the murder of her brother-in-law, Maurice Otterson. He said he was constantly with Marion after his arrival at the Otterson home in Hooksett on the night of the murder, until the medical referee arrived and he warned her not to talk with newspapermen. He did not notice such marks on Marion's shoes as might have come from a struggle on the floor with a bandit. Neither did he see scratches on the woman's neck. He noted no inconsistencies in the story she told.

Mrs. Johanna P. Donnelly of 31 Warner street, Dorchester, Mass., was next called, but the testimony was taken subject to objection by the defense. Since her address was given on the official list of witnesses as 31 Warren street. As an employee of the E. F. Horne Jewelry Co. of Boston, she identified a ring shown to her as one sold by the company on May 17, 1915. A manufacturer's number made the identification possible but she had no way of telling to whom the ring was sold. The jewel was said in court to be the one found in a bureau drawer in Marion Otterson's sleeping room.

Deputy Marshal Victor I. Moore of the Concord police force testified to his examination of the alleged murder gun on the night of the tragedy. He said it smelt of burned powder.

The state rested in the Otterson case at 11:20 a. m.

He was present when Marion's injuries were examined by Dr. B. F. Freeman of Suncook. She told Deputy Moore that the bandit who attacked her threw her to the floor face downward. He then turned her over and threw a sweater over her head.

Moore said he did not think there were marks on Marion Otterson's neck but he did not note an irritation of the skin. W. H. Ellison, a traveling salesman of Concord, told of purchasing gasoline for his automobile from Maurice Otterson's wayside tank early in the evening of November 8, the fatal night, but he could not definitely fix the time of his call. Later he thought it was about 2:15 when he said good-bye to Maurice. The Otterson dog, concerning which much has been said in the course of the trial, was known to Ellison. He described him as a "very noisy" animal.

A recess was taken here and at 11:20 when court reconvened, the state rested.

Robert C. Murchie, opening for the defense, stated that it was the inviolable custom of the Otterson family to have at least two members at home, unless the house was closed. Howard Otterson went with his parents to Manchester on the night of the murder because the father, John I. Otterson, could not drive an automobile.

Sign of Disorder

Reports of Communist Activities to Arouse Workers to "May Day Show of Power" Pour in But No Instance of Violence Yet Reported—Russian Gold Behind Plot—Entire New York Police Force Called—Plot Nipped at Scranton

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Forewarned by the department of justice, those responsible for the maintenance of order in every city and industrial centre were prepared today to act at the first sign of any disorder instigated by radical elements. While reports continued to arrive that communist agitators still were doing all in their power to arouse the workers to a "May day show of power," early today no instance of violence had come from any source.

Assistant Attorney General Garvan expressed the opinion that the precautions taken had materially dampened the ardor of the radical leaders. Special care had been taken to safeguard the members of congress, the three federal judges and an attorney known to the department of justice, to have been selected by the agitators for assassination. Mr. Garvan announced an "amazing" amount of money had been spent by the communist labor party in the distribution of propaganda and in preparations for demonstration. The money had been traced, he asserted, to Amsterdam, where it had been sent from Russia. A great part of the literature in the possession of the department indicated the work of Russian agents and numerous calls for demonstrations were made in the name of soviet Russia.

Heavy Guard in New York
NEW YORK, May 1.—The dawn of May Day found many cities in the east under strong police and military guard in anticipation of possible acts of violence by radicals.

Bundles of circulars purporting to be issued by communists calling on labor to "down tools on May 1," were picked up by the police in various sections of the city. One distributor was arrested.

Legioners Ready to Report

In New York city where William J. POLICE AND RADICALS CLASH IN PARIS

PARIS, May 1 (By the Associated Press).—A clash between republican guards, police and 2000 May day manifestants occurred at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the boulevards of the St. Martin quarter. Two shots were fired during melee and several persons are reported wounded.

The disturbance was the first active disorder of the day. It was brought on by the presence of students from the schools, who acted as drivers on the auto busses replacing the striking drivers. They then began stoning the windows of the busses, spitting in the faces of the drivers, which had been stopped by the jam of people in the streets.

The crowds grew until they numbered 2000 bringing the service entirely to a halt. A small cavalry patrol came up, but was unable to deal with the crowd, which continued stoning the vehicles until drivers and passengers abandoned the busses in the streets.

A patrol of republican guards with a force of extra policemen arrived on the scene. The crowds drew back but soon came forward again. The police then rushed upon a number of manifestants, striking right and left with sabres. Several persons were wounded, some arrests were made and two shots were fired. At this hour (3:50 p. m.) street traffic has been entirely suspended at the point of the disturbance.

CHICAGO, May 1.—Thousands of families here went on a "rent strike" today and refused to vacate apartments in accordance with May day moving orders. H. J. Standish, president of the Chicago Tenants' Protective league, estimated. Mr. Standish predicted 10,000 tenants would defy efforts of landlords to evict them.

NEWS PRINT PAPER

Restriction on Consumption

Urged Before Senate

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Government restrictions on consumption of news print paper were urged before a senate investigating committee today by Frank A. Munsey of New York, publisher of five daily newspapers and three magazines.

Mr. Munsey declared that if the ratio of consumption continued for the next 25 years at the rate it had in the past quarter of a century, there would be no wood pulp forests left in the world.

"I know that sounds like a broad statement, but it is true," said he. The witness said that even now the nation must look forward to the time when daily newspapers will be selling for five and even ten cents.

"The only way to handle the situation, I believe," said Mr. Munsey, "is by restrictions imposed by the national government for the good of all the people."

In urging government restrictions, Mr. Munsey said there was no possible remedy left to individual publishers. No form of voluntary co-operation between publishers could be made effective, he said.

"Every publisher regards questions of size of publication, etc., as purely personal," the witness declared. "You can't get co-operation throughout the nation. It would be impossible in New York, for instance, to obtain co-operation that would cut consumption in half, although it ought to be done. I would gladly do it myself."

Cutting the size of newspapers would not materially reduce revenues of publishers, Mr. Munsey asserted, and would protect the forests.

"There is no substitute for wood, after our forests are gone," he explained. "We must look forward even now to the time when daily issues will be selling for five and even ten cents."

Court Session

"If you call one drink a drunk, then I was it," remarked Private John S. Tuttle of Camp Devens, one of five soldiers arraigned in the municipal court today on charges of drunkenness and assault upon a Lowell policeman, when he was asked to plead by Clerk Trull.

"I don't even know what booze tastes like," said Private Dewey C. Sullivan, another member of the quintet.

Private William C. Janka, the third man, who looked as if he'd been having an argument with a runaway freight train and lost the decision, said "Guilty."

Privates Basil R. Kellar and Roy N. Miller just said "not guilty," and let it go at that, and all five pleaded not guilty on charges of assault upon Patrolman C. Sullivan.

The doughboys were arrested last evening at the Middlesex street railroad station by Patrolmen Sullivan, and

Additional Police Protection
Throughout City, With
Special Details at Banks

The morning hours of May Day, the time set for the launching of country-wide anarchistic activities against industrial corporations and men prominent in city, state and national life, passed in undisturbed serenity in Lowell and nothing occurred to mar the economic peace of the community.

Precautionary measures were evident on every hand, however, as evidence of heeding the warnings sent out by the department of justice in relation to the period of time between May 1 and 10 as liable to produce radical demonstrations and possibly serious outbreaks.

Practically every textile plant in the city had an extensive special guard system in vogue this morning and which will be continued, it is believed, until all warning signs are withdrawn.

The local police department was on the qui vive for any surface indications of unrest outside the mills. As no industrial agitation has been even threatened among the thousands of operatives all surveillance was confined to a careful watch for any signs of disturbance outside the pale of actual industry.

All of the national banks in the city and one or two savings banks and trust companies had patrolmen stationed at their doors, and additional police protection was furnished throughout the entire city by working the men of the department in two 12-hour shifts instead of the customary tours of eight hours. This system also was in effect last night.

A few isolated instances of men being absent from their work were reported, but as far as could be learned no attempt was made by anyone to hold radical meetings or start a demonstration.

"The machinists' union met this afternoon to consider the situation arising from their recent demands for increases. It is reported that there is a possibility of a strike order affecting one of the local plants being issued Monday."

CARGO OF FRUIT SPOILS IN PORT

NEW YORK, May 1.—The Ward line freighter Ormoc, which sailed yesterday for Cuba and Mexico, carried away many tons of decayed pineapples, grapefruit and peppers, which she dumped far out at sea, the law forbidding jettisoning in coastal waters. The stuff had been held so long here for a rise in price that it spoiled. The loss, it is said, will be borne by the Cuban planters who sent the fruit here on consignment.

HERO DOG SAVES TWO LIVES IN ALASKA BLIZZARD

SEATTLE, Wash., May 1.—How "Teddy" saved the lives of Adam Lipke, wireless operator of McGrath, and his wife in a perilous journey over the snows of Rainy Pass Alaska, is being told here by the two pioneers on their way to New York to arrange for a "mush" across Bering sea into Siberia.

The dog hero took the lead in a team that were to pull the Lipkes 350 miles from Seward to a new wireless station inland. Lipke steered the team over a sheer mountain pass where snow was 30 feet deep and a blizzard raging. Far up the mountainside Teddy turned, sprang at Lipke, barking and snarling. Whirling he dashed down the mountainside, dragging Mrs. Lipke, tied to the sled, and the team, and leaving Lipke to follow the beast he could.

"We're off the trail and Teddy knows it," Lipke told his wife. "Let him take the lead and get us out of here if he can."

And Teddy did. After hours of floundering along the Rhone river they came to one of the government monuments that mark the trail, Lipke and his wife threw their arms aloft, the dog hero and cried affectionately into his shaggy fur.

The Lipkes are taking Teddy with them to New York and when they start on their new gold prospecting into Siberia Teddy will go along. The dog will be joined at Nome by "Russ John," hunter and trapper, and plan to travel 800 miles inland from the Siberian coast.

<h2>TROUBLE AT GAS PLANT AVERTED</h2>	<h2>SOCIALIST MEMBERS INJURED</h2>
---------------------------------------	------------------------------------

Following a series of conferences with a delegation representing employees of the plant of the Lowell Gas Light Co. in School street and officials of that company, Mayor Perry D. Thompson today succeeded in averting, temporarily, at least, an interruption of Lowell's gas service.

Employees of the company filed some time ago a petition with the company asking for wage increases and double pay for Sunday work. According to the mayor, the demands were thought too steep by the company and matters had come to a point where the men were ready to stop work tomorrow.

Two socialist members of the chamber of deputies, MM. Vaillant-Couturier and Alexander H. Bance, were injured in a clash with the police this afternoon near the Place de la Republique.

WAS FOUND UNCONSCIOUS

Louis Brousseau of 721 Lakeview avenue was found unconscious in a room this afternoon as a result of accidental gas poisoning. The ambulance removed him to the Lowell Corporation hospital, where it was learned later that his condition is not serious.

However, for the past two days His Honor has been working unceasingly to bring the parties together although not wishing to act in the role of official arbitrator. A conference was held last evening with a delegation representing the employees, another this morning and this noon the mayor conferred with George S. Motley, president of the company.

GIRL WON HUSBAND AND A CARNEGIE MEDAL

PITTSBURGH, May 1.—One silver medal and 11 bronze medals were awarded to heroes yesterday by the Carnegie hero fund commission, in recognition of noteworthy acts by men and women who sought to help others at their own peril. Five of them died, while two were disabled. To these last the commission made monetary grants, $2000 and $300 a month in one case and $1000 in the other. The commission also awarded $500 for other worthy causes.

One New Englander appears in the list: Miss Lorton C. Hallett, an 18-year-old school teacher of 74 Lyndhurst street, Dorchester, Mass., who saved another teacher from drowning at Silver beach, Mass., Aug. 21, 1914, who was awarded a bronze medal.

Miss Hallett saved Roy G. Greene, a school teacher, and H. Wellington Carrick, a student, from drowning near Plymouth. Miss Hallett saw Greene and Carrick struggling in water seven feet deep and swam 175 feet to their aid. Carrick, becoming exhausted, had called for help.

When Greene went to his side he climbed on Greene in such a fashion that Greene was forced to the bottom. Miss Hallett broke Carrick's hold, drew Greene to the surface and swam 60 feet with Carrick to shallow water. Greene, though weak, swam to safety.

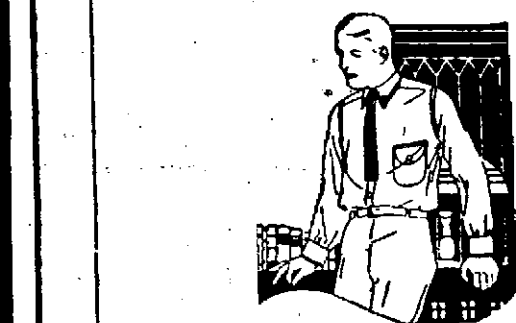

Romance resulted from the efforts of Miss Hilda M. Clark of 3133 Maryland ave., Baltimore, to save the life of J. Fitch King, a student at Huron, O., Sept. 7, 1916. King was seized with a cramp while swimming in Lake Erie and was rescued by Miss Clark, whose name now appears on the records of the commission as "Mrs. J. Fitch King."

FARMERS' BALL WAS BIG SUCCESS

Farmers and farmerettes danced away the hours last evening at the farmers' ball, held in the Sacred Heart school hall under the auspices of the Social club. The large number present, most of them dressed in the togs of Rubenite, enjoyed the occasion immensely, and when not dancing they entered into the merriment of trying their luck at the various booths arranged about the hall.

A concert from 8 to 9:30 was followed by the grand march of the farmers and farmerettes, who were competing for the prizes. Costumes ranged from the dress of the country housemaid and milkmaid to the women's fancy dress, and from the ordinary overall worker and hay-raker to the conservative country minister. All the "gabbling" country spectators were lined on either side of the parade. The judges of the costume contest were Mayor Thompson, Hon. James B. Casey and Commander Luther Faulkner of the American Legion. In presenting the prizes Mayor Thompson expressed his pleasure at being among the "farmers," and said he hoped they would all act as such during the summer in raising garden foods to help reduce the high cost of living.

Miss Charlotte Flanagan, president, dressed in a unique costume of a farmerette, accepted the first club prize for the "Just-a-Minute Girls," and Miss Hazel Cornell, dressed as a parson, received the second club prize for the "H-U-With-Us Girls." The individual prizes were awarded to Miss Lorella Doyle for the most original and to Miss Lucy Sharkey for the neatest costumes. Both these girls received "mysterious" prizes, "something very useful." James Heorn won a prize as being the nearest of the young men. He was dressed as a dairyman, all in white.

Tonic and fancy articles were sold at country stores in the corners of the hall, where games of chance also drew interested customers.

During the evening there were "right smart parade jabs," "jaunty music," by heck," and "pretty farmerettes, 'd'gosh." Such expressions as those were on the dance order opposite the numbers.

Rev. Fr. Fletcher, O.M.I., Rev. T. Franklin Wool, O.M.I., Rev. William F. Mahan, O.M.I., and Rev. John H. Doherty, O.M.I., all of the Sacred Heart church, were present.

Those in immediate charge were: Douglas Smith, boss farmer; Joseph Conroy, assistant boss farmer; John Sheehan, foreman; Timothy Sheehan, assistant foreman; Fred Sharkey, boss haymaker; James Keenan, bank keeper.

HOLD COUNTY FAIR

The County Fair being held in the rooms of the Girls' club in the Russell building today had an auspicious opening last night when many members of the club and friends enjoyed all the features incident to a sure-enough circus. Three judges were given the thankless task of picking winners from the many features on parade and while the final selection was in favor of the circus stunts of Companies A and B, others came in for high honorable mention and serious consideration. Dancing followed the "fair." The ways and means committee of the club, Miss Norreen Graffam, chairman, had general charge of the arrangements. The money raised will go toward a fund for the installation of gymnasium lockers.

TROOPS MASSES AT ALL STRATEGIC POINTS

PARIS, May 1.—Troops were massed at all strategic points in full strength today to cope with possible disorders in connection with the May Day celebration. Police officers were everywhere in evidence.

Few taxicabs circulated in the streets, which were generally more deserted than ever before seen. The clatter of an occasional cavalry detachment was the only noise to break the calm, but the resentment of the idlers was visible in their changed expressions as the patrols passed. There was a brisk business in the sale of small red artificial flowers.

The manning of many omnibuses by high school students excited some subdued threats among the strikers, but no violence was reported during the forenoon. The executive committee of the federation of labor planned to meet at 4 p. m., under the presidency of Leon Jouhaux, to decide whether general strike orders which are understood to have already been issued subject to release should be put into effect to continue the general strike after May Day to support the program of the railroad men.

Brigadier Bondeau of the republican guard was shot in the back last night outside a hall at the conclusion of a communist meeting, but was not dangerously wounded. Police Inspector Lecomte was assaulted at the same time.

The special train for Havre connecting with the steamer sailing today for New York left promptly on time.

CRANKS YOUR AIRPLANE

This automatic airplane cranking machine saves lives at the McCook flying field of the United States army at Dayton, Ohio. Many aviators have been killed by the spinning propellers of their machines. To eliminate the necessity of hand-starting the government experts devised this starter after many experiments. It is mounted on an auto truck body. A long arm stretches to the center of the airplane propeller and a small gasoline motor gives the propeller a quick spin. The automatic fingers of the arm release the propeller the moment it starts.

Carmen Strike; Ask 90 P.C. Increase

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 1.—Street car traffic in Rochester was at a standstill today, the employees at a meeting early today voting to go on strike, notwithstanding an agreement between their international union, the Amalgamated Association of Street & Electric Railway employees and the company to arbitrate all differences. The men demand an increase of approximately 90 per cent. The company made a compromise offer, the terms of which have not been made public, but the men refused to accept it.

Reduce Price of Milk in Boston

BOSTON, May 1.—The retail price of milk in Boston for May and June was set today at 16 1/4 cents per quart, a reduction of three-quarters of a cent, by one of the largest distributing companies here. The reduction was made after the New England Milk Producers' association agreed to a similar cut in the price to be paid by the distributors. The company making the announcement said it would welcome an investigation of published charges that the dealers were attempting to curtail milk production by procuring the slaughter of milk cows in order to maintain the price of milk. The state senate on Thursday adopted an order requesting the attorney general to investigate these charges.

New Haven Bakers Threaten to Strike

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 1.—Union bakers here have notified the master bakers that if demands for higher wages and shorter hours are not met tonight, a strike will be declared. An increase of $8 a week is asked, the work day to be 7 1/2 hours instead of 8. The master bakers offer an increase, but insist that the hours remain the same.

Grand Jury Returns 26 Indictments

BOSTON, May 1.—The federal grand jury which in secret session, has been investigating alleged profiteering by coal dealers has adjourned without returning any but routine indictments. Twenty-six indictments were brought in, none of which had to do with the coal inquiry, it was learned today.

Want Pink Cheeks—Red Lips?

Some unfortunate men and women are prone to wonder why some of their friends are blessed with an abundance of color—pink cheeks and red lips—while theirs are always colorless. The reason for this last named condition is there is not enough red blood corpuscles in the blood—under a microscope the blood is thin and watery. The blood is thicker too. Well known physicians assert that the regular administration for several months of these grain hypo-nutrients will greatly improve the color, add to the weight, make the cheeks pink and the lips red and in general be very beneficial. For self-education, obtain one of the last mentioned books.

ORGANIZATION OF SOCIETY OF AMERICAN MILITARY ENGINEERS ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The organization of the Society of American Military Engineers was announced here today by General Lansing H. Beach, chief of engineers of the United States army. The organization will include in its membership both officers and enlisted men who served in the engineering units during the war, either in the United States or abroad. Local posts will be formed in various places.

There is perhaps no article or utensil of common use today that can trace an earlier origin than the spoon.

Many of the supporters of Herbert Hoover refer to him as "Herbert Over." That is not strange considering Mr. Hoover's long residence in London.

Has Attorney General Palmer been needlessly alarmed over the alleged plots for anarchoistic riots on May Day? He certainly has caused considerable anxiety in some quarters in announcing that a number of assassinations were planned.

LIBERTY BONDS

There is much talk about the market price of Liberty bonds now quoted at 85 per cent. In some quarters, it is charged that the government has thus fleeced the people after the manner of stock gamblers. That is not so. The purchasers of Liberty bonds lose nothing. If they keep their bonds they will receive the full amount of interest agreed upon and will finally be paid back the principal as provided in the terms of the bond. Keep your bonds. Uncle Sam will make good all his promises.

THE OIL SUPPLY

In addition to other difficulties it seems that this country is threatened with a scarcity of gasoline and crude oil. At present the supply of gasoline is reported to be so limited that the government is considering the means of controlling the supply or limiting the use of motor vehicles.

It is alleged that capital borrowed in the United States at 5 and 6 per cent interest, has been used by other nations to secure available oil lands throughout the world.

SCHOOL PHYSICIANS

The state department of labor and industry has reported relative to the work of school physicians, claiming that the children leaving school to enter industrial activities are not properly examined to ascertain whether they are physically fit to enter upon the work to which they are to be assigned. In all probability, there is good ground for such criticism. It is true that the doctors have not made a thorough physical examination of every school pupil on leaving the class room to enter a factory or work of some other kind. In the first place, there would be serious objection from the parents to such an examination of their children by the school physicians.

It can hardly be expected that the physicians, now receiving a mere pittance for their services, would give so much time to the work as would be required by the thorough examination of each member of a graduating class. As we have already said, the doctors are not sufficiently paid, and the school board has not laid down with sufficient clearness the precise nature and extent of their work. If the physicians are required to perform certain duties they will undoubtedly attend to them or else resign, but it cannot be expected that they will devote much of their time to school work without reasonable compensation.

CHECKING SPECULATION

In order to put the necessary check upon speculation, the Federal Reserve banks have increased the rate of interest upon loans so as to limit the amount of credit that their patrons can obtain. This is a very necessary precaution against over-speculation which in many cases in the past has brought a financial crash upon the country resulting in the ruin of many institutions and a general business depression. In view of the craze now so common to acquire wealth by every means possible, it is fortunate that there is some barrier in the path of those who would plunge too deeply in debt so that they could have no hope of meeting their obligations.

In this connection it may be well also to advise those who are saving money to place it in the banks which are obliged to comply with strict laws for the protection of depositors. Those who hand their earnings to irresponsible parties on the mere promise of large profits are taking a serious risk. Large dividends obtained at the risk of losing out the main purposes of that organization now under the ban very generally throughout the country.

Another leader similarly engaged, is Fred G. Biedenbapp, secretary-treasurer of the Brotherhood of Metal Workers, who in a speech in the Dudley Street Opera House in Boston last Sunday, declared openly without any equivocation whatever for "One Big Union" and to promote that object he said his policy is to declare strikes in order that they may fail and thus spur the strikers to more radical action. Another function of the One Big Union is to encourage class hatred.

WILL THE MILLS ACT?

The housing problem in Lowell is daily becoming more acute, and there is no movement for relief in any quarter. Neither the municipal council nor the Chamber of Commerce has taken up the housing question in a way that would help to provide more dwellings for the people.

When families are thrown out on the street today, they have no agency to which they can look for assistance. It seems to us that the local mills have here an opportunity of showing their willingness to help their employees. If the mills combined to erect even temporary homes for such of their employees as cannot find tenements, they would render a great service to this community. It is needless to cite instances in which families are ordered out without being able to find any place whatsoever to which they can move.

BRAIN CHANNELS

Let two men engage in a political argument. Seldom is either convinced. On the contrary, each goes away more than ever certain that he, himself, is right.

THE ONE BIG UNION

There are advocates of the One Big Union already in this country today, their avowed purpose being to form a union so large that they will be able to stop the wheels of industry all over the country, seize the industries and the property and take over the government.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barker

HE BROUGHT THE BEST BIRD BOOK QUITE CLOSE SO SHE COULD SEE

There was a grand scramble when Rubadub told the twins to get ready for the Bird-of-Paradise. They snatched all the other birds out right away—and poor Will Woodpecker only half done.

Then they got out all their best feathers. Rubadub said he had saved for twenty years for just such an occasion as this. And the loveliest shades of paint, and silver powder, and gold powder, and what not! For a traveling clothes. But when I return, course the light was dim, but there was enough of it to see that the visitor was certainly not as gorgeous as her picture. Really she was quite plain and dressed in very dark brown.

The magical mushroom whispered to Nancy that her name might as well be Bird-of-the-Barnyard, as Bird-of-Paradise, and was about to say some more uncomplimentary things, when the lady herself remarked, "I've come a long way, of course, I just wore my gold powder, and what not! For a traveling clothes. But when I return, no doubt, the weather will be quite fine, so I can wear my new gown home. Can you begin it right away?"

Rubadub said they could, and would, and asked if the dress she wore in the picture was the kind she wanted. And he brought the Best Bird Book quite close so she could see.

"Y-yes!" gasped the lady. "Is that really the Bird-of-Par-? I mean, yes, indeed! That's exactly what I want!"

And in walked the stranger! Of chemin de fer watched the troop train loaded with dusky doughboys come to a dragging halt. One dark son of Louisiana stuck his head out of the homies' fort.

"Hey, M.P.! Where we all at, main-tenant?"

"Barle-due. Where you going?"

Complete Calm Reigned This Morning, Workers' Celebration Orderly

PARIS, May 1.—(Havas)—Complete calm reigned in Paris this morning, workers who were participating in the May Day celebration being very orderly. Troops were on guard at all railroad terminals, however, to guard against any outbreak. Traffic at the North station was almost normal, there being only a few firemen who quit work for the day. Mail service was in operation as usual but no newspapers were published.

Advices from Strasbourg stated the situation was very good, as labor unions decided not to call out their men. Even the socialist newspapers of that city have advised workers to remain at their posts. Railroad employees at Lille decided to stop work, but citizens have formed an organization to operate public services.

Throughout Paris, all shops and cafes remained closed and partial service was maintained by the subway and motor buses. Inquiry at various terminals showed the north and east systems working on an almost normal basis, while the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean line was only slightly affected by the strike. Students of a number of great schools replaced missing workers and maintained service. The only systems seriously embarrassed by the strike were the tramways and the Orleans and Alsace roads which were operated on very reduced schedules.

Ideal weather prevailed and a holiday atmosphere pervaded the city.

FAIRMOUNTS DANCE

Attended by a large crowd of Lowell's young people, the 16th annual dancing party of the Fairmounts, held in Associate hall last evening, proved one of the most successful events of the season. Cabaret numbers were offered by Miss Lillian Evans, and the dance program was one of real enjoyment. The officers were: General manager, John King; assistant general manager, William Callahan; floor director, Edward Linton; assistant floor director, Frank Rogers; chief aid, Fred Connors; treasurer, William Walsh; aids, Frank Roane, John Shaugnessy, Patrick Maguire and Martin Cosgrove.

WILL NOT PARADE

The members of Lodge 134, International association of Machinists at their regular meeting last evening voted not to parade on Labor day. Eves Parker F. Murphy occupied the chair and routine business was transacted.

WEIGHING MACHINES

GOOD INVESTMENT

More than 12,000 Lowell people were sufficiently interested in their weight in the past two months to drop a penny in one of the white enamel weighing machines installed in both the men's and women's sections of the comfort station in Paige street, according to an examination of the machines made yesterday by a representative of the Detroit firm which installed them with the permission of Commissioner George E. Marchand of the public property department.

One machine was placed in the men's section of the station and another in the women's section. Yesterday afternoon Commissioner Marchand and a representative of the firm had the machines opened and a galvanized iron pan to which one inch of the top was required to carry all the pennies that were taken out of the penny receptacle.

The receipts from the men's department filled the pan three-quarters way and the remainder was filled by pennies taken from the machine in the women's section. A number of dimes, one of the old tokens formerly used on the street railway system, a cent with a hole, and one or two other "phony" contributions had been put in the slot, but $123 in genuine United States currency was garnered as a result of two months' business. According to the contract made by Commissioner Marchand with the Detroit firm handling the scales, half of the receipts are to go to the city and half to the firm. As a result, the coffers of the public property department were enriched by $61.50 yesterday afternoon.

M. E. CONFERENCE

Quadrennial Session Opens at Des Moines

DES MOINES, Ia., May 1.—The quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church opened today to continue through May. Bishop Joseph Berry of Philadelphia presided at the opening session. Fourteen nationalities were represented, and there were 41 women among the 550 delegates. One-half of the delegates are ministers and the others laymen.

One of the first questions to come before the gathering will be selection of a successor to Edwin Locke of Topeka, Kas., former secretary, who died recently.

Election of probably eight or ten new bishops will come before the conference, it was said, but the exact number to be chosen will not be known until the bishopric committee reports.

Other questions to be decided include: Unification with the Methodist Episcopal church south; the carrying forward of the enlarged program of world wide work; discussion of proposed changes in the discipline relative to amusements and a proposal to unite all the missionary and charitable activities of the church.

Preliminary to the general conference, the national board of control of the Epworth league held its annual session. It was decided to name a secretary for Mexico and to request that Bishop A. W. Leonard of San Francisco be retained as president.

Fuel requirements of shipping board vessels alone for this year are 45,000,000 barrels of oil, and for next year 60,000,000 barrels.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

It possibly is not generally known just how much the acquisition of adjacent land and buildings will mean to the Lowell Normal school. While Mr. Mahoney was principal we heard him say on several occasions that a dormitory was one of the school's greatest needs and this has been actively taken up by Mr. Wood, the present principal. It is felt that young women are being kept away from the school each year because of the necessity of daily travel between the school and their homes and that if this could be eliminated, it would immediately work for the betterment of the institution. At present girls attend the schools from cities and towns within a radius of 20 miles and as many do not relish two train trips a day, the registration is smaller than it should be. If the Parker estate is purchased, as now seems assured, it will afford the school a long-sought-for chance to stretch out and not only will it relieve congestion within the school, but will add to its prestige among the normal schools of the state.

STREET FIGHT IN LONDON

Sinn Fein Sympathizers and Opponents Clash Before Wormwood Scrubbs Prison

LONDON, April 30.—Sinn Fein sympathizers and opponents engaged in a street fight before Wormwood Scrubbs prison tonight and mounted police had to charge the crowd before it would disperse. Stones and clouds of earth were hurled and several persons were slightly injured. Disorderly scenes occurred almost nightly in the neighborhood of the prison, but the participants are drawn from the rougher elements of the vicinity, and the trouble is not war and North Dakota.

Announcement was made tonight that three more hunger strikers had been released, making a total of 13 taken out of the place since they began refusing food 10 days ago. Many of the strikers are in bad condition and it is expected several will be released soon.

One feature of tonight's demonstration was the appearance of "Uin" helmets, worn by a large party of Irishmen engaged in keeping order. A choir of ladies sang Irish songs and Mrs. Despard, sister of Field Marshal French, lord lieutenant of Ireland, addressed the crowd.

When the Stomach Goes on a Strike

Good, red blood, which means blood well supplied with oxygen, is necessary to healthy digestion. Upon the blood depends the flow of the gastric fluids, the perfect action of the muscles of the stomach and the assimilation of the digested food. That is why a debilitated, run-down condition so often causes the stomach to go on a strike.

The success of the tonic treatment in cases of stomach trouble is illustrated by the experience of Mr. L. W. Bowen, of No. 53 Albany avenue, Hartford, Conn.

"I had indigestion for four years," says Mr. Bowen, "and although I tried many prescriptions none of them seemed to help me to any extent until I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My trouble was an acid condition of the stomach. No matter how careful I was in the selection of my food I would have a sour stomach. This condition grew worse and I had severe pains and cramps that would nearly double me up. At times these pains were so severe I would have to stop work and they would leave me in a profuse perspiration. The attacks were most frequent at night and would break my rest. I also suffered from belching.

"I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from a friend who had received benefit from their use in a case of rheumatism and who advised me to try them. I could see that the pills were helping me before I had finished the second box and I took four boxes altogether. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills certainly corrected my stomach trouble and I can eat almost anything my appetite desires without any distress and I can heartily recommend the remedy to any sufferer from indigestion."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly in supplying the elements that the blood lacks and enable it to properly nourish the nerves and the organs of the body. In this way they are useful in neuritis, sciatica, indigestion and the run-down condition resulting from colds, influenza and fevers.

A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat" which tells about this treatment, will be sent free on request by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.—Adv.

FEDERAL LAND BANK LOANS SUSPENDED

Owing to supreme court entanglements loans by the Merrimack Valley Federal Land bank have been stopped and it may be eight or nine months before activities at this banking institution are resumed. This announcement will come as somewhat of a shock to some farmers in the Merrimack Valley and would-be farmers of the district, who had planned to negotiate loans through this institution for improvements to their property.

The news of the cessation of activities on the part of the federal banks was received this morning by E. Gaston Campbell, secretary-treasurer of the Merrimack Valley Federal Land bank in the following letter sent by E. H. Thompson of Springfield, president of the Federal Land bank of Springfield, which includes in its district the local bank:

The supreme court announced Monday of this week that they would require a reargument of the case brought in the Kansas City courts to test the constitutionality of the farm loan act with respect to state and local taxation of farm loan bonds.

It is doubtful if this reargument can be heard during the present term of the court and may go over to the sitting late in the fall. In any event, we are faced with a possible delay of eight or nine months, in view of which your association should accept no further applications under any conditions, and should notify all applicants who have filed applications with your association of the existing situation.

We especially ask that you notify all prospective borrowers of this so that there will be no misunderstanding on their part, thinking that their loans will be had in the near future.

We shall be glad to keep you advised of any change.

Very truly yours,
E. H. THOMPSON,
President, Federal Land Bank of Springfield.

1500 RADICAL SUSPECTS ARRESTED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, May 1.—Federal, state and city authorities in the central and western states, who were prepared today to deal with possible threats of disturbances in connection with the observance of May Day, generally predicted no violence would be attempted. In Chicago more than 1500 radical suspects and alleged criminals were arrested in a police roundup.

Scores of suspects were sent away from Chicago, the police said, when it was found they had criminal records but there was not sufficient evidence to hold them.

Chicago members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, remained away from work today but it was said May Day was a holiday recognized in their union contracts.

No permits for parades in Chicago were requested.

In the northwest, reports to St. Paul indicated that no large demonstrations were planned.

In the southwestern states, no information indicating untoward events might be expected had been received. At Kansas City, Mo., meetings were planned in compliance with Mayor Cowley's proclamation urging the day be observed as "American Day."

Members of the American Legion in Indianapolis, planned to parade in a protest against "red flag demonstrations."

Communist literature appeared in St. Louis but federal officials said they had no reports of organized demonstrations.

weakness, that day and night I had severe vomiting spells, to such an extent that I was compelled to remain in bed. After a two months' treatment, I was completely relieved. "FRUIT-A-TIVES" Keep His Stomach, and Liver in order

154 Elm St., Lakeport, N. H.

"I realize that I have reached the age (65) when one often requires fixing up. My digestion was not right and trouble with my Liver and Bowels caused considerable distress. I could not get rid of the Constipation; and the insufficient action of my bowels resulted in my blood absorbing the poisons.

Last fall, I began taking 'Fruit-a-tives' or Fruit Liver Tablets, and after using them for a short time I could see they were just what my system required. My liver became active and improvement in every way was apparent.

I doubt whether anyone could feel better than I do; and I am willing to give credit where credit is due, to 'Fruit-a-tives.' F. R. ADAMS.

RECOUNT OF JOHNSON- WOOD VOTE IN N. J.

NEWARK, N. J., May 1.—Chief Justice William S. Gummere, of the supreme court today signed an order for a recount of the vote cast in last Tuesday's presidential preferential primaries for Senator Hiram W. Johnson and Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, republican candidates.

The recount will be for the entire state and will begin on May 10 in five counties, where Johnson's supporters allege that mistakes had been made in tabulations.

The sum of $50,000 must be deposited by Senator Johnson before the recount will begin, to defray expenses entailed by the various county boards.

The justice's reason for allowing the recount to start in the first five counties, he said, was to give Johnson supporters opportunity to abandon the contest should it be shown by the recount in these counties that the result was not materially changed.

Every City Ready to Act

Continued
New York state guard in case of necessity and a hundred posts of the American Legion agreed to report at police stations, should an emergency arise.

Detectives on Roofs of Skyscrapers
All public buildings here were closely protected and guards were stationed at railway terminals, bridges and the homes of prominent men. Detectives were perched on the roofs of skyscrapers. Department of Justice agents swarmed through certain sections of the city, where radical agitators are known to have their haunts. One hundred meetings of radicals were to be held here during the day under police protection and scrutiny.

Soldiers on Guard at Hartford At Hartford, Conn., Infantrymen of the First Connecticut Guard regiment patrolled the state capitol, the bridge over the Connecticut river, the state armory and various municipal buildings. The guardsmen were hurriedly summoned for duty early today following reports made to Col. Charles W. Burpee that the public and state buildings were to be blown up.

Arrests at Scranton, Pa.
Seven men were under arrest at Scranton, Pa., two of whom were said by Department of Justice agents to be organizers and leaders of the Communist party in America. The government officers claimed they nipped a May Day plot in the bud by the arrests last night.

Proclamations Seized
In Pittsburgh, Pa., Woonsocket, R.
I., and other cities May Day proclamations and posters, purporting to come from the communist party, were seized. The proclamations urged workers to "strike for the release of political and industrial prisoners."

Patriotic Observances
In several towns patriotic observances were held to offset possible activities of extremists. The day was made a holiday in Paterson, N. J., by proclamation of the mayor, and mills and places of business were closed.
Newcastle, Pa., planned an "American day" parade, at which only the Stars and Stripes were to be permitted in the procession.

All at Work in Lawrence
LAWRENCE, May 1.—The great textile mills here were running with a full force of workers today and the only radical activity shown was the dooding of the city during the night with circulars headed: "Hail to the soviet" and "What Communism Means."

An outdoor mass meeting of members of the Amalgamated Textile Workers of America, was scheduled for this afternoon to celebrate "International Labor Day" according to leaflets distributed among mill employees.

Emergency Call at Hartford
HARTFORD, Conn., May 1.—To guard the state capitol, the state armory and arsenal close by, and the East Hartford bridge over the Connecticut river, several squads of men of the first regiment, Connecticut state guard are on post duty today. Orders were issued by Col. C. W. Burpee of the regiment last night for his staff officers and later an emergency call was sent out to have men of the command ready for duty. It was announced a fortnight ago that about May 1, the regiment would be called out for instruction.

No information is yet available in official quarters as to whether the military board of the state had information which led it to take precautionary measures such as have been carried out. The number of men placed on duty during the night was about 100. They were given instruction in guard and patrol duty and squads of men were thrown about the municipal building, the Hartford Electric Co.'s plant and several other buildings. They patrolled with the police officers for a time. At 2:30 a. m., all men save those on duty were released from the emergency call.
No warning or instructions were sent to any other command of the state guard except the first regiment which is located here.

MAYOR THOMPSON AS INTERLOCUTOR

With Mayor Perry D. Thompson in the role of interlocutor and an excellent cast of soloists, ends and chorus, the local assemblage of Eagles is looking forward to a most successful evening when it stages its minstrel show and dances in Associated hall next Wednesday evening.
The soloists will include Commissioner James E. Donnelly, Edward F.
Donohoe, Martin F. Maguire, Joseph
M. Kelly, Mrs. Nancy Swift Willette and Miss Madeline McLaughlin. The Dwyer sisters will appear in songs and dances. The ends will be Mar-cella Roberts, Miss Vera Ward,
Charles Matheson and Frank Donohoe.
James J. Ward will direct the show and George D. Freeman will be accompanied. A chorus of more than 100 voices has been rehearsing for the past several months.

SAYS LLOYD GEORGE HAS SOLD HIS SOUL

LONDON, May 1.—A witty speech by Herbert Asquith's elder daughter, Lady Bonham Carter, was the feature of the liberal conference Thursday night, at Oxford, at which a resolution declaring for the independence of the liberal party was carried by a big majority.

Lady Bonham Carter was particularly severe on Premier Lloyd George.
It was characteristic of him, she said, that when he had sold his soul he thought he had only pawned it. They could imagine him saying: "I only pawned it to win the 1918 election.
I have come now to get it out. Let me have it for a week. You shall have it back."
The prime minister, she said, paid lip service to every principle in turn.
He gambled in all policies but invested in one. He was double-jointed mentally and morally. That was a great qualification for an acrobat, but for the head of the government what they wanted was not double joints but a single mind.

WHY WASTE IT?

BATH, Me., May 1.—Christened with champagne by Miss Lillie Weber of this city, the steel tanker Occidental was launched at the yards of the Texas Steamship Co. today. The vessel has a gross tonnage of 6700 and was 80 per cent. completed when she left the ways.

CINCINNATI MACHINISTS OUT

CINCINNATI, May 1.—Four thousand union machinists were on strike here today, for higher wages. The strikers confined themselves to peaceful picketing.

LICENSE BOARD CLERK GETS INCREASE

Despite the fact that they proclaimed, several weeks ago, that there would be no increase for clerks employed in municipal departments this year, members of the municipal council have broken the ice and it is expected that stronger pressure than ever will be brought to bear on them for further advances throughout city hall.
The pay of John J. Flaherty, clerk of the license commission, has been advanced from $2279 to $2415 per year and there have also been general increases in the pay of city library employees, although their wages come under the supervision of the library trustees.
However, there has been an under-

REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT OF MERIT

front, a double house and cottage in the rear, the land area being 4672 square feet. The property is located at 50 ALBION STREET
All buildings are in excellent repair, slated roofs, open plumbing, cemented cellars and are practically modern in every respect. There are two tenements of five rooms and three tenements of four rooms.
The present owner although refraining from profiteering, receives 17 per cent. on the assessed value of the property, his only reason for selling being his other interests which demand his whole attention.
Will be sold at a very low figure considering the high value of real estate at the present time. For price inquire at

18-CENT SUGAR

Louisiana Official Tells House of Agreement
WASHINGTON, May 1.—Increased costs and short production were the controlling factors in the agreement by the department of justice that Louisiana sugar producers would not be prosecuted if they sold their last year's crop at 17 and 18 cents a pound, the house judiciary committee was told yesterday by United States District Attorney Mooney of Louisiana.
Last year's crop was only 43 per cent. of that of 1918, he said, adding that in the latter year the sugar equivalent had fixed nine cents as a "fair price" for the large crop. Chairman Husted remarked that the agreement apparently permitted the same net profit on the short crop as on a normal yield.
"Very few people in Louisiana made a profit," said Mooney, "and they made little. Wet weather and weeds ran away with the profit."

RUM HOUND RODGER ON THE TRAIL!

Rodger, the rum hound of Ruffsedale, is sniffing a stone thought to be the famous whiskey rock. Rodger, a registered English bloodhound, is being trained to trail bootleggers and, at the slightest scent of liquor, raises his voice in joyous baying.

RODGER'S FACE

Rodger watching with professional interest while his owner and trainer, Grant Hocky, chips samples from a rock to which the dog has led a posse of searchers for the whiskey rock of Ruffsedale.

Posses Hunt "Whiskey Rock"—Chemists Say the Rock Is a Myth; That There Is No Such Thing as a Solid, Natural Formation of Rye Whiskey

By LEE J. SMITH

N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
Ruffsedale, Pa., April 30.—Not for violets and buttercups do they search on the brushy hillsides of the old Bryan place these spring days. Expeditions headed by Grant C. Hocky and Rodger, his noted rum-hound, intend to make a survey of every square yard of ground in the former domain of Col. Solomon Bryan.

It is Whiskey Rock they seek. A fragment of this stone, the size of the hole in a country doughnut will produce, when dissolved in a pint of spring water, a fluid possessed of all the appearances and properties of 100 proof rye liquor.

Tells Just So Much
Some insist that Whiskey Rock has been located. Jeb Musser, arrested last week in Mt. Pleasant, in a mood of friendliness toward all the world. The marshal found him doing a bare-foot dance in front of the Baptist church, at the same time chanting, "I'm standing in the need of Prayer." When interrogated by the Mt. Pleasant police, Jeb told him:

"Whiskey!"
"I know," said the police force, "but where did you get it, Jeb?"
"Oh! Col. Bryan got his out of a rock, didn't he?" parried Jeb.
And that was as much as the third degree could elicit from Jeb.

The old colonel, scornful the comments to which his station and his property entitled him, dwelt in a small cabin on the steep hillside overlooking the pretty village of Ruffsedale and commanding a majestic sweep of landscape as well.

No one ever presumed to invade the colonel's wooded acres unless accompanied by the old man himself. He could shoot, and would shoot.

Surprise Promised
As the years mellowed him, Colonel Bryan promised the people of Ruffsedale a surprise. His closest friend was Calvin Hightower, who had battled for the Confederacy while the colonel fought for the Union. Toward the last, Cal and Col. Bryan were much together. They prowled the hills behind the colonel's cabin.

One fall evening, Ruffsedale was shaken by a mighty explosion from Sol's ravine.
A keg, charged with a secret concoction and tightly plugged, had let go, demolishing the colonel's cellar. Not long after that, the old man died. Then Cal Hightower came into his own as the village mystery. He roamed the hills and marched the streets of Ruffsedale, always in a state of exuberant happiness. Little by little he permitted his secret to escape him. He was making use of Col. Bryan's Whiskey Rock!

Then Cal died and, until recently, the tale of Whiskey Rock was told in Ruffsedale as a local curiosity. Prohibition and the doings of Jeb Musser revived interest in the famous rock.

The Rum Hound
Mr. Hocky, proprietor of the Ruffsedale garage, denies that he purchased Rodger, a registered English bloodhound, for the express purpose of using him to locate Whiskey Rock. He does admit that Rodger is being trained to trail moonshiners, and other felons, sought by the authorities. And the sensitive nose of Rodger is being educated with precious samples of rye and bourbon, so that he has already learned to give voice, in a deep, blood-curdling bay, when he sniffs ethyl alcohol. It is the theory of Mr. Hocky, and those who join him in his quest for the rock, that Rodger, the rum hound, will at least come to a point if there reaches his experienced nostrils the scent of a stone containing the chemical constituents of whiskey.

Chemists say Whiskey Rock is a myth; that there is no such thing as a solid, natural formation of rye whiskey Rock can be found.

But the posses from Ruffsedale, and the surrounding country say that they have nothing to lose but their time, and a vast amount to gain if Whiskey Rock can be found.

NEW ADDITION FOR BAKERY

In order to be able to handle in a satisfactory manner the vast increase in business, Adam Guillette, proprietor of the Massachusetts bakery is having a large addition built to his already large modern shop in H. H. H. street. Mr. Guillette reports business has been exceptionally good during the past year and the demand for his famous Honey Crust loaf is constantly increasing, because, he says, this loaf is nutritious, very tasty and is being baked in a most sanitary shop. If you have not yet tried the Honey Crust, do so and you will want no other.

AUTO SHEET METAL PARTS

Sheet metal parts for automobiles can now be obtained right here in Lowell, for Large & McLean, proprietors of the Union Sheet Metal Co. have equipped their shop with the necessary machinery for the manufacture of such useful articles and they guarantee satisfaction, while they claim their prices are the lowest. This company specializes in the making of fenders from fender metal, while it has in its employ experts for the repair of radiators and lamps. This concern does business at 37 Thorndike street and its telephone number is 1503.

MILL REMNANTS AT BAKER'S STORE

If you purchase your materials at Baker's, you will help reduce the high cost of living.

BARR MAKES THE SUN CUTS

Favorable comments are often heard on the splendid cuts reproduced in The Sun, but all the credit should not go to the newspaper, for the Barr Engraving Co. is its official engraver and it is mostly through the expert knowledge of the engraving company's employees that photographs are so artistically reproduced in the columns of The Sun. The Barr Engraving Co. is one of the leading concerns of its kind in this state and its popularity extends for miles around. Its studio is at 33 Beech street and its telephone number is 2244.

Discovery of a serum to prevent hog cholera, and its use as shown by the department of agriculture, has reduced losses from that disease by $10,000,000 a year.

J. W. STEWART CO. BUSY CONCERN

Some local plumbers and steamfitters are complaining that new buildings are not being erected in this city and as a result there is not much doing in their line. Such is not the case with the J. W. Stewart Co. at 359 Bridge street, for this concern is kept very busy, due principally to the fact that it does good work and that its prices are very reasonable. When in need of a plumber or steamfitter, call up 555 and your needs will be attended to.

MATTRESSES CHEAP AT PRENTISS' STORE

ALLEGED "CRANK" WHO OCCUPIED ROOM NEAR GOV. COOLIDGE ARRESTED

BOSTON, May 1.—A man who occupied a room two doors removed from Governor Coolidge's apartment in a downtown hotel was arrested last night after making alleged inflammatory remarks. After examination, he was sent to the psychiatric hospital for examination. The police lieutenant who examined him expressed the opinion that the man was a "crank."

Intimate Stories of Stars

Closeups With the Movies

SCENE FROM "THE TIGER LADY" TO BE PLAYED BY THE LOWELL PLAYERS AT THE OPERA HOUSE NEXT WEEK

become celebrated as a motion picture star of the first class.

"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," one of Stevenson's most notable novels, is a subtle psychological story of intense dramatic force, in which a physician, by the aid of a compound he has discovered, is transformed at will into the character of a depraved man.

The film follows the story closely, relating how the young and philanthropic Dr. Jekyll discovered a mysterious liquid that would transform him into the grotesque brute that, under the name of Mr. Hyde, represented the wicked side of his nature. He thus had his good and bad sides in separate bodies and could enjoy the pleasures of both. But gradually Hyde gained the ascendancy and, to spare the young woman to whom he was engaged, the unfortunate Jekyll took poison.

Mr. Barrymore's portrayal must be reckoned among the most intelligent and effective that he has offered on stage or screen. He manifests a keen understanding of and sympathy with his role and plays it with finesse. His Hyde is more than a masterpiece of makeup; it is the living representation of cruel cunning. He makes of Dr. Jekyll a man almost godlike in form and character.

Martha Mansfield's cameo-like beauty is well suited to the role of the innocent girl who is Jekyll's fiancée. Brandon Hurst, Charles Lane, Cecil Ciolek, and Nita Naldi are also excellent in their respective roles.

In addition to this big attraction the program will also include a two-reel comedy, a Chester Outing picture and the latest edition of the International News.

Rarely has a program of so great expense and unequalled merit been presented to the public of Lowell at any theatre and, in fact, in any city.

THE USHERS WILL GIVE "THE BIDE-A-WEE HOME" AT KEITH'S NEXT WEEK

"The Creole Fashion Plate" will front tomorrow's special shows at the B. P. Keith theatre, giving a re-enactment of some numbers which will compare very favorably with any which are now being sung. They are the very latest of late pieces. J. K.

Kimmel & Co. will also be on this bill, and so will Keegan & Edwards, the funny singing boys. Other acts for the day include Frank Gaby, Joseph M. Norcross, Watkins & Wheeler, and Bruce & Wilson.

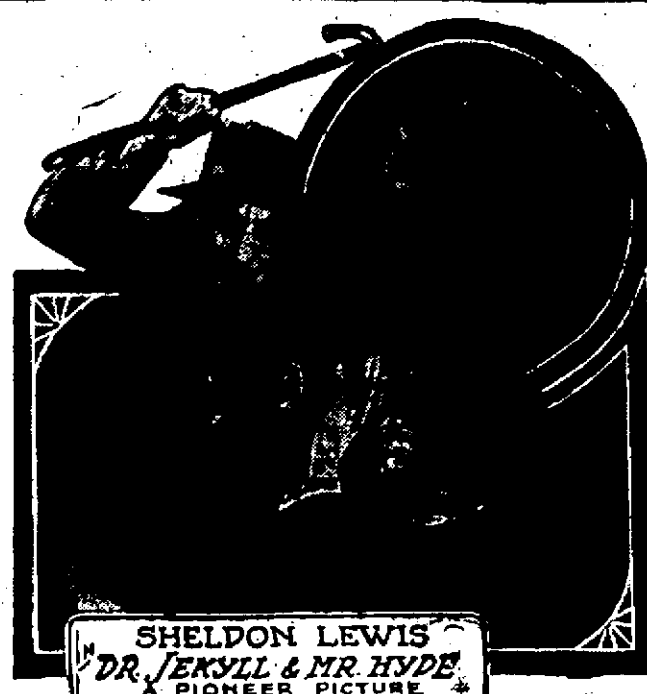

Claude and Fanny Usher, who have always been welcome to this city, will appear in their newest act next week. "The Dance in the House" and which is said to excel anything they have ever presented. In this Claude Usher will give an Irish character which is in line with what he has portrayed in the past—the sort with the grand manner but a very generous heart. With never a word of dialect, Claude Usher tells his character over in the manner of the true artist. Fanny will be the pretty, appealing "Sarah Ann Bane," the most rough-kid who still loves all things beautiful. The story of this act is not ordinary. It will chase the tears away with a laugh.

Sensational melody is quite generally supposed to last as a stimulant. At any rate, it has many of the effects of a stimulant. It sets into the blood and tingles. That is what Raymond and Schram call their song offering, "A Syncopated Cocktail." Just as there is something in a cocktail besides the stick, so have these two men something besides rattle in their songs. They have good voices and allow them to advantage in songs which are not of the rattle variety.

William Hallen, of Hallen & Hunter, is funny because he has adjusted his mental view to good humor. To him it's one of the easiest things in the world—he has tried it and found out. He tells stories and utters while he tells them. With him is Ethel Hallen, who is a capable violinist. She produces a large, broad tone and imbues her music with such spirit and infectious magnetism as to win her audience immediately.

"Tuppy Love" is what Johnny Small and his sisters call their dancing act. This is intermingled with some witty lines. The act is one of the dancing hits of vaudeville. Small has a pleasing personality, sings well and dances better than that. And the same may be said of his sisters. This trio offers a very quiet act which produces no less results.

"Those Surprise Boys," Welch, McLaughlin and Montross, excel in ground tumbling, although they burlesque their own line of work, and never fail to get a real laugh with it, too.

Karl Carey is a musical cartoonist and one of the most popular men in the vaudeville at that. His work is neatness throughout, and he puts over his song hits irresistibly. A bumpety-bump act is that of Miss Francoise and M. Marret. It is full of fun and skill. The Kinograms, News Pictures and Topics of the Day will be given at every performance.

SUPER-ATTRACTION AT THE STRAND INCLUDING "DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE"

An attraction extraordinary is promised to the patrons of The Strand for the first three days of the coming week. Through a special arrangement and at extra expense, the Pioneer Film corporation production of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," with Sheldon Lewis portraying the dual role, will be the super-feature on a bill that stands out in comparison with others. Local movie fans have heard with much interest of the great impersonation which Mr. Lewis, the famous tragedian, gives of the dual role of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. In his impersonation the star has been greatly influenced by the work of late Richard Mansfield, who played the role for 20 years or more on the stage. Mansfield made the unhappy physician a spiritual figure through out, and Mr. Lewis has followed in the footsteps of Mansfield. But the Hyde of Mr. Lewis is far more literal and gripping than that of Mansfield, showing the moral and spiritual degradation to which a good man may fall when he denies the existence of God and believes that mankind is no better than the lower animals. The version of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde will surely make its impression on all patrons. The production has been mounted with pretentious lavishness, and a strong company appears in support of Mr. Lewis. Great care has been taken in every detail of the presentation of the story, and it is expected to duplicate here the success which it enjoyed during its presentation in New York, where it ran for an unusually long time and to capacity audiences. It's easily one of the biggest dramatic film endeavors of the year and should rank with the most entertaining ever shown locally. Remember it will be shown only the first three days of the week.

Martha Mansfield in "Captain Swift" will be the other feature on this exceptional program for the first part of the week. Williams is too well known to need further mention. "Captain Swift" is in no sense of the word a crook play, for although the star has the role of a highwayman in the production he has decided to bury the past and follow the straight and narrow path. In this he succeeds. There is no wavering, no hesitating about the past, he is a good man, and the only reference made to it is when a member of the Australian police seek to arrest him. The element of suspense is maintained throughout the feature. It moves rapidly and is filled with human interest. It is a story that will take well and can be shown to all ages and classes without giving the slightest offence. And above all the star is seen in something new for him, and positively his best work. An excellent supporting cast assists the star in his presentation of the story. A good comedy and an interesting weekly help to give satisfying variety to the bill.

For the last three days of the week, beginning with matinee on Thursday, another strong program is assured. Presumably taking a bit from the song, every one is looking for "Alias Jimmy Valentine," in which none other than that sterling screen star, Bert Lytell, is featured. As may be recalled Jimmy Valentine is a prisoner in Sing Sing on a charge of bank robbery, who has earned the unity of the brutal warden because he always plays the gentleman. Jimmy has the reputation of being a master cracksmen who opens safes without burglar's instruments, relying on his extremely sensitive touch to feel the slight jar of the tumblers in the combination of the safe. What follows is the effect of Jimmy's reputation and the possession of his odd skill on his after life—forms one of the most thrilling, breath-catching melodramas ever written. A strong company of players assists the star in the presentation of this prize-winning film.

"Constance, Binger," in "The Stolen Kiss" is a "different sort of picture." It portrays with quaint charm the story of a little Brooklyn girl with a French accent, who is kept in sheer ignorance of the simplest things of life by her misguided though affectionate grandfather. It's a delightful story—the kind that can't help making a deep impression on all—and should be received with favor by all lovers of the better class of film production. A comedy and weekly will round out a bill of merit.

"DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE" AT MERRIMACK SQUARE EX-THEATRE

Sunday's program at the Merrimack Square theatre will be featured by two popular stars in interesting vehicles. Mary Pickford will be presented in "Capt. Kidd, Jr." and Mabel Normand in "When Doctors Disagree." An exceptionally excellent surrounding program will also be presented.

For the entire week beginning Monday, Robert Louis Stevenson's famous story, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," will be the underlined attraction and despite the fact that this production cost thousands of dollars and has been shown elsewhere at $1 and $2 prices, there will be no advance in prices at this theatre. The usual continual performance will be presented daily.

Starring in this famous story of Stevenson is Jack Barrymore, an exceptionally gifted actor and a member of a family distinguished for a century in the annals of the American stage. Mr. Barrymore excels equally in tragic and comic roles. A prime favorite on the speaking stage, he has

There are Mays you don't find on the calendar. And, just like the flowers of may these May Girls are pretty, good to look upon, and nice to have around. But, unlike many May flowers, these May Girls are not born to blush unseen. They waste no sweetness upon the desert air. They are the May Girls of the spotlights, the stage and the screen. Just so you may know them: Left to right they are: May Gerard, of "Happy Days"; May De Lara, in "Pagliacci"; May Irene Williams, noted soprano; May Summer, in "Look Who's Here"; May Allison, Metro movius; May Murray, a Paramount star; May Hackett, Broadway favorite; Edna May, in "Florodora"; May MacMillan, of Capitol Theater Co., and Doris May, of Famous Players-Lasky. Honest, now, folks, did you ever see more bright Mays on the first of May? It beats any May Day party we ever attended. Add to this brilliant May collection all the pretty Mays you know and then bet your bottom dollar that more pretty girls are named May than April, for instance.

AN ORIENTAL TRAVELER

Sun Man Meets George Byrd Dougherty 'After Twenty-three Years

In the hotel lobby a few evenings ago a not unfamiliar voice said: "Hello—how goes it, old pal?" I turned to meet none other than my old-time friend, George Byrd Dougherty, known to us in the olden days by the familiar name of "Doc." Mr. Dougherty is at U. F. Keith's theatre this week collaborating with Miss Mary E. Ryan, in the vaudeville vehicle for J. V. Emmet, Mary E. Ryan and company. The musical romance, "Heartland," in which he is appearing this week, was written by him, for he is known that Mr. Dougherty has developed into a writer, Oriental traveler and promoter.

It was twenty-three years ago, to be exact, that we last saw "Doc" Dougherty and we remember distinctly that his company was somewhat of a luxury as he was engaged in writing a Japanese opera in a little back room at his hotel and, naturally, his time was very precious. But we had little regard for his privacy and often carried our "good times" into the little back room. It is the same earnest, yet jovial "Doc" today that he was a score and three years ago and the years, indeed, have dealt very kindly with him.

His history since that time has a touch of romance. In order to get color for his Oriental productions, which were ever popular in his mind, he forsook civilization and, on the island of Ceylon became a runner for a Mohammedan Jew shop. Later, at Calcutta, we find him in the guise of a fakir, playing the pipes with native snake charmers. In China he again sought the native quarters and acted as tutor of English in the family of a prominent mandarin at Hankow, which is at the extreme end of the upper Yangtze River.

Mr. Dougherty is soon to detach himself from vaudeville and will close his engagement in Portland to which city he will go from here. Always interesting, his travels and experiences, sufficiently varied to fill a book, have lifted him entirely out of the ordinary and he could easily qualify as lecturer on things Oriental. He specializes in Oriental novelties and for years wandered as an outcast-through China, India and Japan to acquire color for the things which he now presents. "Heartland" is an example of the new twist he has given vaudeville.

We size him up today as a disciple who preaches a song of tomorrow in things theatrical. Among his attractions for the coming year, he will have under his management, Miss Todi Ragini, who believes herself to be the reincarnation of Todi Ragini, a celebrated dancer and singer of Sorgo from the Sanskrit, who lived three thousand years before the coming of Christ, and Mr. Dougherty says this beautiful young woman really believes that she is Ragini, reincarnated. She is only 23 years old and speaks several languages. "Strange as this may seem to us of the Occident," said Mr. Dougherty, "such things have occurred since time began in the Orient, and that a soul should seek a new abode is a matter of very little import to those marvelous occultists of whom so little is known."

Mr. Dougherty, quick to appreciate the possibilities of Todi Ragini's talent, has enlisted the help of one of the most noted Orientalists in this country, that she may be adequately fitted with a tale appropriate to her strange personality, and stranger artistry. Miss Ragini, Mr. Dougherty says, is certainly an adept in the music, literature and dance of the Ragini period.

LOWELL PLAYERS TO PRESENT

"THE TIGER LADY" AT THE OPERA HOUSE

In the writing of "The Tiger Lady," which is to be next week's attraction at the Opera House, by the Lowell Players, Mr. Dougherty has given the lovers of good drama a play clean in sentiment, strong of dramatic force and appealing in heart interest, and with sufficient to do in the movie class. In addition, the author has applied a twist to its construction that will not only be a novelty but a theatre treat. "The Tiger Lady" opens in an unusual way and this trick of the playwright is maintained to the very finale. With the rise of the curtain on the prologue a stage is shrouded in darkness, but instantly the audience is aware that a struggle is going on there are a few muffled words, and then a shot rings out, to be followed by a piercing scream. The lights are switched on, revealing a girl standing and staring in horror at the fallen body of a man. Then, rapidly, follows the investigation by the police, a strong scene between the girl and her lover which results in the beginning of a life that is filled with mystery, unusual happenings, love and great excitement. As the girl starts her story the stage lights begin to dim, finally going out altogether, and the next scene reveals that part of the story telling is they do in the movie class—this is nothing more than a "cut-back" and the audience is taken back to the scene that really leads up to the prologue. After three acts of tense gripping situations that hold great interest the audience is again taken back to the scene of the prologue and here the story ends at the exact point where it is broken off in the opening scene. Surely with this as the season's novelty, "The Tiger Lady" will excite much local interest and with the Players assigned to congenial roles, it should receive favorable recognition from all. Social efforts will be made to excel any previous stage environment. Miss Marguerite Fields will find ample opportunity to again reflect her marked ability in a powerful dramatic role, and Mr. L. A. Atchley will also be assigned to a part that will give him an unusual chance for good work. The others of the cast will also be found in pleasing portrayals. Director Kirk promises a finished production and a superior brand of stage settings. Tickets are selling fast and it is advisable to make reservations immediately. Tel. 251. ADOPTED KIDDIES HAVE ROOF GARDEN WITH LAKE

ETHEL HUNTER, APPEARING WITH WILLIAM HALLEN AT THE B. F. KEITH THEATRE NEXT WEEK

First Margery, the older of the sisters, was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Browning, but she was so lonely for Dorothy that Mr. and Mrs. Browning prevailed upon the parents of the girls to permit Dorothy to join her sister. Both have been legally adopted, and their playground is a roof garden above the palatial Browning home. It includes a miniature lake, with real fish, pond lilies and a dainty boat.

NEW YORK—At one time Dorothy and Margery were content to play in an ordinary backyard.

VALUABLE ARCHIVES IN CANNIBALS ATTACKED WAR OFFICE BURNED RICE EXPEDITION

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 29.—(By Associated Press) Valuable archives and a large sum of paper money were destroyed in a mysterious fire today in the war office. Firemen found that the entrance to the burning part of the building was barred by locked doors, and much time was lost in extinguishing the flames.

On all sides is found evidence that Turkish officers are not disposed to move against Mustafa Kemal, leader of Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor. The machinery of two Turkish gunboats anchored in the Golden Horn has been found to be disabled, while several ships carrying recruits to the Asiatic shore of the Sea of Marmara, where the Sultan's troops are being assembled, have gone aground.

Only 7000 of the 13,000 Turkish officers known to be in this city have appeared at the war office in obedience to the order for all to report under heavy penalties for non-compliance.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 1.—Chester Ober, geographer with the expedition of Dr. Alexander H. Rice in South America, in a letter received by his parents here and made public yesterday, said that two natives were killed by Dr. Rice and Ober in warding off an attack on the party. Ober described the natives as "cannibals, scantly clad" and as "very ferocious and of large stature."

The letter told of the trip up the Amazon river to the Negro, thence up a tributary of the latter river, where the attack occurred. The attacking party leaped from the brush on the river bank toward the explorers and were frightened away by the party firing shots in the air. The natives apparently took ambush, Ober said, because later they made another attack. He and Rice fired at them this time, killing two. On the advice of guides the expedition turned back.

Accompanying Dr. Rice is his wife, the former Mrs. George J. Widener of Philadelphia. According to Ober's father the party is on its way back to the United States and expects to arrive May 15. They left last June to explore parts of South America unknown to the white race.

A Manchester, N. H., woman had a hat which last year cost her $1, trimmed and all. This year she took off the trimmings and carried all the stuff to a milliner who charged her $1.50 to put the stuff back again.

SILK NET GOWN WILL BE FAVORITE

BY CORA MOORE, New York's Fashion Authority.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Nothing is going to figure more prominently among spring and summer materials for evening wear than the finer nets and laces. Fashion has called them back for another long reign.

In the illustration is shown a sketch of one of Gertrude Parrar's conventional gowns of dark blue silk net. The foundation of satin is narrow, plain and continued at the top into a princess' girle. Two circular cut flounces have their diagonal edges sewed together and the flounces are then adjusted so that they fall into points at the sides from the overdress. The bodice consists of folds of the net enclosing three folds of white chiffon and over this, an Etien of the same net, its edges like those of the flounces, being finished with an inch-wide square banding of the same blue as the net.

MEXICO HONEYCOMBED WITH REVOLUTION

AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, Mexico, May 1.—(By Associated Press.)—Mexico is honeycombed with revolution and instead of the "steel ring" of soldiers President Carranza of Mexico announced would be put around Sonora, the first state to secede from his administration, the rebels have put a "steel ring" of revolutionary soldiers about Mexico City and in every state except one. General A. L. Villarreal said here today in making public what he termed the accomplishments of the revolution in less than one month.

General Villarreal came here from El Paso to discuss the revolutionary situation with General P. Elias Calles, commander of the revolutionary forces in the northwest.

General Villarreal was president of the Aguas Calientes convention which selected Carranza to be president of Mexico.

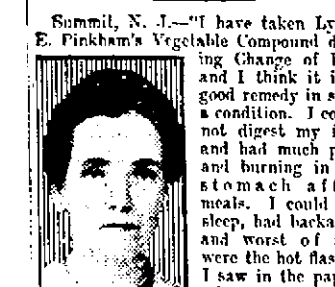

NEW CHANGE IN SPANISH CABINET SINCE KING ALFONSO CAME OF AGE

MADRID, April 26.—Members of the cabinet of Premier Alende Salazar, which resigned this week, have consented to remain in office until Monday, and so far, no official steps have been taken toward the formation of a new government.

The present change of ministers is the 55th since King Alfonso came of age. The Alende Salazar cabinet held office four and one-half months, which is about the average lifetime for Spanish governments since the end of the war.

Lady Lookabout

Painting the lily, is a term applicable to the accordion plaited skirts of plaid now being worn. It would seem that plaid is in itself so very ornate to suit any taste, but it would seem that this is not so, and some master mind decrees that it be accordion plaited. At first these skirts seemed almost grotesque, but in accordance with the old saying, one can become used to anything, and now the accordion plaited plaid skirt is considered quite smart. Of course our plump sisters must flee it as they would a pestilence, but at the same time, may it not be the forerunner of a new era for them? The accordion plaited plaid skirt can have only one excuse for being, and that is to make its wearer appear much more plump than she really is. And if the slim woman is courting lines of plumpness, it must be that the woman of generous proportions is already in possession of the fashionable silhouette. This conclusion is borne out by one of the most select of publications presenting tailored garments for women. Every figure in the book showing styles for the coming fall and winter, is plump almost to stoutness. So, as I have often said, it is a long lane which does not eventually sidestep, and the lady of generous proportions who has so long looked upon her slender neighbor with mingled emotions of admiration, envy, hatred, malice and intense longing, may now feel happy, secure in the knowledge that her lines are correct.

Suffrage Outlook

To some who may not be in sympathy with suffrage for women, a lack of sympathy due either to prejudice or lack of enlightenment, there may be a spirit of rejoicing in the fact that the suffrage amendment was not ratified by Mississippi. It may interest those rejoicing persons to know that suffragists did not expect to win in Mississippi. That state, like certain other states of the south, has never been on the suffrage program as a ratifying state, and no effort to get it to ratify had been made by suffragists. An eleventh hour attempt to secure ratification was made by the democrats of the state as a political coup. Had it succeeded, the credit would have been democratic.

The recent adverse house vote in Delaware, does not mean defeat for ratification for that state. With the air of that state charged with sympathy for the suffrage movement it may safely be assumed that ratification is only delayed, and very temporarily at that.

The North Carolina legislature convenes late in June and developments already indicate a victory for suffrage. The North Carolina democratic state convention has declared in favor of the movement, and the outlook for ratification is most hopeful.

Late one rainy afternoon I took a short cut through one of those nasty, uncleaned-forby streets running from Jackson street to Middlesex, just up from Central street. The rains had made the street worse than ever, and when I was about half way through it, I came to an enormous puddle, much too wide for my longest stride. I did not want to turn back. I could not go ahead. I was in a dilemma. A little boy, evidently a foreigner, noticed my predicament. "Wait a minute, lady," he shouted, "I can fix it," and he disappeared in an alley leading from the little street. Almost immediately he returned, staggering under the burden of a large piece of asphalt paving. Unmindful of his shoes and stockings, he scuffed straight through the mud and water. When he came to the middle of the puddle, he dropped his burden with a great splash. Instantly his face, eyes, hair, even the top of his cap, was spattered. Did I care? Not he. He was entirely oblivious to the mess he had made of himself. Still standing in the puddle, his little arms akimbo, he watched me use the stepping stone he had devised, on his face an expression of happy and successful achievement. While I felt as Queen Elizabeth must have felt when Sir Walter Raleigh laid his cloak on the ground that she might pass with dry feet over the wet pavement.

A minute later my little friend and I were choosing a chocolate cat from a tray full in Cameron's store. I thanked him the best I could and then, inspired with the spirit of the romance of Queen Elizabeth and Sir Walter, I playfully placed my hand on his head and said, "I dub thee knight."

"What did she say to you?" called a little companion, crossing the street to join him as I continued on my way.

"Oh, she just said, 'Good-night, you dub' returned my little friend, as he vigorously hit into the chocolate cat."

KNOX RESOLUTION

Is Strongly Favored by Senator David I. Walsh

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Senator Walsh expressed himself today as strongly in favor of the Knox peace resolution, warning the democratic party it will be fatal to reject it.

He said: "It would be a most important thing for the democrats to oppose the resolution. If they did so, they would be placed in the position of having voted three times against peace. Twice when they defeated the treaty and a third time in rejecting the peace resolution."

Democrats cannot afford to put themselves in such a position. The resolution will find support among Massachusetts men in the house also.

COTTON VOILE IN FLOWER PRINTS

NEW YORK, May 1.—Gingham, percales and linens are the materials for morning wear this summer; printed voiles, near-linens, tissue cloths for afternoon.

Here is one suggestion: Elaine Hammerstein's checked cotton voile, gray with flower clusters printed over it in various colors, has frills of fine cotton net outlining neck and sleeves with a beige ribbon for heading, and then—a sunbonnet. Yes, indeed! A sunbonnet.

DENY OUTBREAK ANTI-AMERICAN MOVE

LONDON, May 1.—The breaking up of the first night's performance of J. Hartley Manners' play, "A Night in Rome," in the Garrick theatre Thursday night by a gallery demonstration continued to be the sensation of the day for yesterday afternoon's newspapers, which also denounced the affair editorially.

The newspapers, without exception, take the ground that the attack was an organized affair, although the motive for it remains a mystery. Manager Cochran is conducting a searching investigation. Miss Laurette Taylor, the American star in the piece, who was at first inclined to return home, decided later to continue with the play, which it is announced will be resumed Monday.

One explanation is that it was instigated by Germans because of Mr. Cochran's refusal to produce German plays or music or to allow Germans to enter his theatre.

Sample theories offered are: That it was due to a remark of Miss Taylor's in America on her return from London, where she lived through an air raid; that it was because of Mr. Cochran's recent praise of American actresses as compared to British girl aspirants; that it was prompted by the recent striking successes of Mary Nash, Peg O'Neill and Edith Day; by Mr. Cochran's spokesman, that it was a move by disgruntled boxers, who have been antagonized by Cochran's recent fight promoting.

David Belasco, the famous producer and author, who was in the audience, praised the gameness of Miss Taylor. "Never in my long experience on the stage have I seen anything like it," he declared.

The Evening News denounces the demonstration, but says it is nonsense to say it was an outbreak of anti-Americanism. The newspaper adds that Miss Taylor is one of the most popular actresses on the London stage.

VERY "WONDERFUL THING" IS THIS TURBAN HAIR DRESS

NEW YORK, May 1.—"How does she do it?" That's the question New York women ask each other after seeing Jeanne Eagels in "The Wonderful Thing."

It's her coiffure they are talking about, not her French accent or the way she plays her role. And Miss Eagels is accommodating. She explains her puzzling hair arrangement in this way:

"The hair is taken down and brushed straight from the scalp. A part is then run through the center of the hair from just back of the bang, up over the crown and to the nape of the neck. The right side of the hair is brushed out flat and brought up and over the top of the head, forming the top of the turban, and it is then pinned into place on the left side of the head."

AUTO TALK

CLEVELAND, O., April 24.—Twas a Sunday in the rainy season. Jape Pius-vius had turned the bowl upside down. But it was necessary to drive from Toledo to Cleveland. The family was loaded into the car, side curtains buttoned down, and we called along on a film of water over the fine brick roads of northern Ohio.

Sailed along until near Vermilion, when a mile or so of road under repair made a detour necessary. Then we discovered that northern Ohio soil was not the finest for contact with the wheels of a motor car on a rainy Sunday afternoon.

We crept along on second, holding the car desperately to the crown of the ridge like a man walking astride the ridge pole of a slippery roof.

Suddenly, somehow, we crossed over the ridge and glided gracefully and gently down the greasy surface into the ditch. The family screamed. The pater descended. So did the rain.

There wasn't a house within a half mile. There wasn't a solid spot under the car to set a jack. Other cars crept fearfully, cautiously by. Nona stopped.

Father started for a farmer and a team, with visions of a $3 fee for hauling out. He found a farmer, bless his heart, who did the job for $1.50, after plodding the half mile through the mud behind his team his lantern dangling in the crook of his elbow. And he gave father a drink of cider as well.

Meantime, a kind-hearted couple gathered in the babies and the mother and took them to the village. By the time father and son arrived with the car at 8:30 dinner was over at the hotel. But mother had seen to it that something had been saved.

And, oh, boy! Have you ever eaten a chicken dinner at 8:30 p. m., after a footless day and the task of digging out a stalled car? It was a perfect end to the day.

Vigilantes of today do not pack guns ready for action against marauders and horse thieves. They now act secretly and are on guard at various roadways in southwest California to observe all infractions of traffic laws and report them, to guard against thefts and prevent motor accidents. They are business men organized by the Automobile club of southern California.

The tire companies of Akron, O., are now manufacturing 555,000 tires a day, according to the B. P. Goodrich Rubber company, a tire a second. This is 235 per cent. more than a year ago.

There's no reason why former service men should not be good auto drivers. There's the free automobile course offered by the various schools being operated by the Knights of Columbus throughout the country. The first output of finished auto drivers who had served for Uncle Sam during the war will consist of 50,000 veterans.

SAYS WERNER HORN IS GOING INSANE

FREDERICTON, N. B., May 1.—Werner Horne, the former ex-officer of the German army who was sentenced to 10 years in the Maritime penitentiary at Dorchester, for having attempted to blow up the International bridge on the Canadian Pacific railway at St. Croix, is a model prisoner, but his incarceration is resulting in his being rapidly driven insane.

John B. Hawthorn, sheriff of York county, who took him to the penitentiary a few months ago, after he had been sentenced here, saw Horne this week. He was surprised to find the difference which has already taken place in the German.

"Horne had hardly commenced to talk before I could see that his mind was wrong," said Sheriff Hawthorn yesterday. "He talked about Germany in a manner which left no doubt that he is rapidly becoming insane." Horne has been employed in the prison tailor shop.

Officials of the Dominion Immigration department, have already interviewed Horne and it is thought he may be deported to Germany if the Berlin government agrees to accept him. A number of American citizens who are prisoners at the Dorchester penitentiary will also be deported to the United States at an early date. It is understood. There are now 319 prisoners in the penitentiary and additional cells have had to be constructed to provide accommodations; the number of prisoners being the largest in its history.

GRAFTON WITHOUT FIRE PROTECTION

GRAFTON, May 1.—At midnight last night the town of Grafton was without fire protection, as both the Grafton Hook and Ladder company and Rescue Hose company have disbanded, rather than serve under the new board of fire engineers. At a recent meeting of the board of selectmen all the old fire engineers were dropped and a new board appointed, to go into office May 1.

At a special meeting of both fire companies, it was voted to disband and not to serve under the new engineers. The selectmen also cut the board of engineers from six to four men and were planning to cut the fire company from 50 to 10 men.

The townselect are up in arms over the action of the selectmen, many of them claiming that the whole matter is one of political spite, and have sent a protest to the state police and insurance underwriters. The latter have promised to investigate the matter.

At a recent town meeting the pay of the firemen was raised from $12 to $25 a year.

WRITER FINDS KAISER ROBUST

Zoe Buckley Has Close-up of Former War Lord and Kaiserin

Wilhelm's Limousine Closely Followed by Dutch Police on Bicycles

BY ZOE BUCKLEY, N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

DOORN, Holland, April 23.—(By Cable, Delayed).—Today at the gate of their new estate here, I saw the former Kaiser and Kaiserin. The two had motored from Amerongen to inspect elaborate alterations and additions in process of construction at Doorn House.

Despite tales of the ex-emperor's aged and infirm condition, I saw in him a man of normally robust bearing and sprightly step.

It is true that he wears a beard, which adds years to any man's score, and it is true that this closely-cropped beard is gray. The mustache which once curled upward automatically, is now less assertive. But the cheeks above it are firm and slightly ruddy.

His blue eyes are much underlined, but clear and bright. The whole face is either that of a proud spirit unchastened, or of a man able to mask successfully both gnawing fear and annihilating shame. His figure is spare, but erect. He still maintains the carriage and stride of the parade-ground soldier.

His costume was hybrid. He wore a reefer jacket of snuff brown, short trousers to match, with brown shorts and leggings of military type. His soft hat was of brownish gray, and when he doffed it in response to my salutation, I noted that his thinning hair was grayer than his beard.

Until he alighted from his car, a short military cape of olive gray, lined with dark fur, hung from his shoulders. This attendant in plain clothes removed and carried as the small party walked from the car along 30 feet of pathway to an obscure little gate, through which the tallen All Highest passed to avoid the main road.

As for the wife of the ex-kaiser, her handsome stature astonished me. Likewise her sweet and gentle-featured rosy face, her glory of snow-white hair and the modishness of her garments.

While there was nothing about Wilhelm Hohenzollern to stir my unmitigated sympathies, I was startled to find myself feeling sorry for this grave, gracious-looking woman who shares his ignominy and his exile; who must live henceforth separated from children and grandchildren, alone with her vanquished war lord in their moated chateau in a foreign land among people whose deepest feeling toward her is diminishing curiosity.

I was scarcely five feet from her and the ex-kaiser as she gave him black-gloved hand and descended from the car. As she glanced in my direction apparently wondering who I might be, standing there by her little private gateway where no Hollander has thus far ventured, I saw a very real and human sadness in her eyes.

She walked up the path more slowly than the others, perhaps owing to the heart trouble from which she suffers. Her head, with its halo of glistering white, was held a little to one side as if she was tired.

I think Augusta Victoria Hohenzollern must be very tired indeed—tired of fire and steel, of blood and death, of guilt and flight, of isolation and ignominy and loneliness and all punishments women suffer from forces which are out of their control.

She was dressed with elegance. Her purple velvet, moderately brimmed hat, was trimmed with flat ostrich plumes of the same color. She wore no veil. Her suit was semi-tailored, of dark velvet, with a knee-length coat and a skirt so long that Paris would have laughed at it. A long chain of this gold about her neck was the only jewelry visible.

The car was a limousine, painted olive green and ornamented with brass. It was driven by a German in a drab uniform, with military cap and chin strap. There were two men in civilian attire inside the car, both of whom got out and entered the wooded grounds of Doorn house with the ex-kaiser and Kaiserin. Two other men in plain clothes who had stood beside the little gate for a quarter of an hour before the owners arrived, unlocked it as the car drove up and fastened it again after Wilhelm had entered.

The party walked up the sun-dappled path through the wood to the chateau and disappeared. They remained two hours and a half, emerging from the grounds by the main gate and passing through the village of Doorn on the straight road to Amerongen, ten kilometers east.

Herr Hohenzollern has the reputation both at Amerongen and Doorn of behaving with great seamliness, modesty and tact. All winter his every movement from Benlueck castle in Amerongen was arranged in advance.

If he wishes to visit Utrecht, Arnhem or Doorn for any reason, his adjutant invariably telephones to Dutch military authorities and permission is given to the ex-emperor to make this visit on a specified day. He never ventured outside the castle walls without permission. Only recently has the Dutch government given him a blanket pass to go any time he chooses to his new house in Doorn.

Two of the Holland state police on bicycles are always near the Hohenzollern car when the Kaiser sits out. They are sharply suspicious of strangers and require everybody seen loitering about the ex-kaiser's old or new residence to produce a passport, answer questions and promise not to take photographs. They followed me to my hotel today, viewed my papers, made notes, instructed me to call at police headquarters for permission, looked grimly at my camera and the word "Journalist" in my passport.

the world, the former Kaiser is viewed by the people of Amerongen and Doorn with a stolid indifference of which only the Dutch are capable.

It is said that the burgomaster of Doorn accepted an invitation to dinner in Benlueck castle with something less than enthusiasm.

I have asked many townspeople what they think of the coming of the famous exile. The shopkeeper remarked that he had enough to do as it was, and preferred selling to customers he knew he could please. The inn-keeper complained that it would bring excursionists to Doorn and drive away his exclusive guests.

Children who had waved their hands and called out, "Good day, Mr. Kaiser," as the war lord passed in his car, pulled sober faces when I asked them if they were glad to welcome their new neighbor.

"No, my lady," they said, "for we used to walk and play with our dolls in the woods of Doorn house. Now Mr. Kaiser has put a fence around it."

A TRUE LETTER

East Boston, Mass. The following letter may bring advice to other sufferers:

"Dr. J. F. True & Co. Having heard that your medicine, Dr. True's Elixir, had been on the market for years and years, I thought possibly my ailment would be helped if I tried it. I have spent many dollars trying to get laxative which would agree with me, be pleasant to take and yet effective. At last I have it—Dr. True's Elixir. The Family Laxative and Worm Expeller."

For years I have had a poor appetite—any rich foods disagreed with me and my headaches were frequent. I was troubled with tired feeling, nervous depression, weakness, spots before my eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness and many other signs of sickness.

I can now do a day's housework and not mind it, and your Dr. True's Elixir is always handy—I don't know of a better laxative. Give it to my children with wonderful results—it relieves them of worms."

PENN. RELAY CARNIVAL

New World's Record—England's Best Runner Defeated by Nightingale

PHILADELPHIA, May 1.—A new world record, the defeat of England's best collegiate distance runner, left at the post in the star race, and the winning of the pentathlon by Bradley of the University of Kansas, the outstanding features of the opening day of the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival here yesterday.

The presence of the English university track team gave an international aspect to the games and but for a heavy rain and the unfortunateiasco which ruined the distance medley championship race, the initial day of the meet would have gone down in the history of the long carnival record.

The fastest field of varsity distance runners that the country could boast faced the starter in the three-mile international intercollegiate race arranged for the special benefit of E. H. Montague of Oxford University, winner of this event in the Oxford-Cambridge dual meet in London on March 27, when he did 14:45.3. Yesterday he was easily defeated by G. T. Nightingale of New Hampshire State college, by more than 40 yards in 14:55. Montague, who ran second in 15 minutes 22.5 seconds, finished some 34 yards ahead of W. K. MacMahon, M.I.T., after a grueling race.

Eleven runners jumped away at the pistol shot in the half-mile race. Nightingale went into the lead, finishing the first half-mile in 2 minutes, 22 seconds, about 20 yards ahead of the pack. At the mile he was still showing the way in 4:55 by about the same distance with Montague going easily in fourth position. MacMahon moved into the lead at the 1 1/2 mile mark. Nightingale second, a stride ahead of Graf and the others. Nightingale went to the fore at two miles which he turned in 10 minutes. Montague and MacMahon a yard in the rear. At two and one-half miles, Nightingale was leading Montague by a half-yard and running well within himself, while the British runner was 10 yards ahead of the Massachusetts man. Here Montague jumped into the lead, but Nightingale put on a burst of speed and passed him again inside of a few yards.

The evidence of reserve power appeared to discourage Montague, who began to fade away and at the two and three-quarter miles he was in distress. The water-caked spectators, who were away and won slowly up, but MacMahon did not have the stamina to overtake the Oxford star and was obliged to be satisfied with third place.

J. M. Watt of Cornell won the 440-yard hurdles almost as he willed in the first round, time of 1:11.5 seconds, displacing the former time of 54:3.5 made by Harry Hillman of the New York A. C. in 1917. Coughlin of the University of the South, second and H. Gish, Nebraska, third.

The keenest disappointment came to the 5000 spectators who had braved the heavy rain when the Oxford-Cambridge team as well as several others did not appear for the distance medley relay championship race. No explanation was given by the officials, but it was believed that the rain and after a grueling neck and neck race Penn State, nosed out the Yale quartet, with Syracuse and Georgetown finishing in well behind in the rear.

As the water-soaked spectators returned to their seats there came a second announcement that the race would not be held owing to the condition of the track. In the dressing rooms the three teams which had been left out of the race were still puzzling over the mix-up which cost them their chance at the championship. According to the best explanation given, all three combinations were supposed to start on the line when told to remain under cover until called. They waited for some time and when finally a messenger was sent to the canvas of the delay the race had been started.

The victory of Bradley in the pentathlon came as a surprise to many followers of athletics, his defeat of Bartels being one of the sensational points. Bartels of Pennsylvania, who won the pentathlon in 1918, finished second with 15 points; Hamilton, Mik-sour third, 12; Brown, University of California, fourth, 21; Hammond, Kansas, fifth, 23; and Cann, New York University, sixth, 25 points.

JOE JACKSON LEADS AM. LEAGUE BATTERS

CHICAGO, May 1.—Joe Jackson, the Chicago outfielder, leads the American league batters with an average of .453 for eight games, according to averages which include Wednesday's games, released today.

Cleveland is second with .422, acquired in nine games, and Hendryx, Boston, with .415, in third. At bat 29 times, Jackson got 14 hits. Ty Cobb, the Detroit star, got 14 hits in 31 at bats, although he has participated in 10 games. He has been at bat 37 times and has made only six hits for an average of .162.

"Babe" Ruth of New York, who last season established a world's record of 29 home runs, also is slow in getting his eye sharpened for hitting. Ruth played in a half-dozen games, before an injury forced him to retire, and in the five hits he collected only one was a home run. It was a double. Other leading batters for five or more games: Williams, St. Louis, .417; Walters, Chicago, .414; G. Walker, Philadelphia, .410; Weaver, Chicago, .408; E. Collins, Chicago, .400; Speaker, Cleveland, .379; Scott, Boston, .366; Sisler, St. Louis, .344.

C. Walker has bagged two home runs and Roth, Washington, has stolen six bases.

Kitchenson, Pittsburgh, is topping the batters of the National league, with an average of .500, made in five games. He has been playing the role of pinch hitter and in five at bats has made good three times. Kidult, Brooklyn, in a like number of games, is hitting .500, having made six hits in 12 times at bat. Hornsby, St. Louis, with .468, made in 11 games, is third. Roush, Cincinnati, who led the regulars in batting last year, is hitting only .218 for three games. Other leaders are: Rath, Cincinnati, .463; Lebourveau, Philadelphia, .444; Z. Wheat, Brooklyn, .417; Danbury, Cincinnati, .375; Pick, Boston, .378; Bancroft, Philadelphia, .361; Groh, Cincinnati, .351.

Max Carey, Pittsburgh, is getting away in a flying start among the base stealers, having pilfered five bases.

BOXING FANS POUR INTO LAWRENCE FOR BOUT

LAWRENCE, May 1.—Boxing fans from throughout New England gathered here today for the 12-round no-decision contest this afternoon between Jimmy Wilde, British flyweight champion and Bobby Dixon of New Bedford. Wilde conceded several pounds to his opponent, who, for the first time in his boxing career, met a man smaller and lighter than himself.

A large number of Lowell fans went to Lawrence to witness the bout. Wilde last night appeared at the local boxing club on Thursday night and after the meeting many made reservations to take in the bout. The bout will be staged in the City Hall and plans have been made to accommodate one of the largest crowds that ever attended a boxing exhibition in this section.

BOXER DEAD

Murray Who Was Knocked Out Last Night Died Today
BOSTON, May 1.—John R. Murray, a professional boxer, who was knocked out in a bout with Dave Powers of Malden, last night, died at a hospital today. Powers was arrested and charged with manslaughter, but the court discharged him, with the statement that the boxer's death was obviously due to an accident.

Murray, who was New England amateur welterweight champion before he joined the army, went down in the 10th round of a scheduled 12-round bout at the Commercial Athletic club. The men had exchanged blows when Murray fell to the floor. Spectators said he had been felled by a blow on the right side of the chin.

SUNDAY SPORTS

Practically No Evidence of Interest Locally

Evidently the Sunday sports law has not made much of an impression upon local baseball enthusiasts, at least, to the extent of participation, for up to this noon only one request for a permit to play had been received and issued by Superintendent of Parks John Kernan. This one was for the use of a Lincoln school playground by the local club and Union Blues. Only one permit was issued for last Sunday.

Teams that have been in the habit of playing upon the South Common have relied upon hat collections for money to meet playing expenses, umpire, etc., and with this practice prohibited by the terms of the amateur sports bill, this fact is believed to account for the apparent lack of interest. Warmer weather may change things, however, and tend to bring out local teams on Sunday afternoons.

LONDOS TO MEET GRANDOVITCH

The Lowell Marathon club has made arrangements for another big wrestling match, this time between Jim Londos, world's champion Greek wrestler, and John Grandovitch, a Russian giant, who has been toning up over in impressive fashion. Grandovitch performed creditably against Siecher, Lewis and Stanislaus and Wladick Zwick. Londos and Grandovitch are to meet in Crescent rink next Wednesday night. Londos states that he has scored the use of his left hand, and he fully appreciates the magnitude of the task before him. The Lowell Marathon club hopes to sign up Stranzler Lewis to meet the winner.

CHATEAU THIERRY — THE MARNE — CIERGES — JUVIGNY — ST. MENEL

"Action Front!"

When Lowell soldiers hit the target in France, it was because they did not forget from whence they came. They were proud to do honor to their native city and to their country.

Battery F of Lowell, a real combat unit, was one of those organizations which lived up to the glorious war history of the city.

That record is to be perpetuated.

We have a new target, comrades!

BATTERY B, 102nd FIELD ARTILLERY, YD Division (formerly Battery F.) is to be reorganized.

Lowell loses its infantry units and has been assigned only one combat unit — BATTERY B.

We want 121 men—two-fisted, red-blooded Americans.

We fought once. We will be ready to fight again if necessary. We want men who are real men and who place country and flag above everything else in life.

That's the kind of stock BATTERY B is going to be made of. We accept no others.

The Courier-Citizen Said Editorially April 22, 1920:

The Lowell battery in the new state military organization ought to find itself in the hands of its friends in this city. For many years Lowell has been a lively city for military work and there are many here who like to participate. The new battery will be something of a novelty for the city and may perhaps recruit itself from a somewhat different clientele than would the infantry companies, but whether infantry or battery it is up to this city to provide what is asked and have it attain that efficiency and proficiency that will keep up our local record in these respects.

The new battery ought to have a group of influential business men back of it to help develop a good spirit and to help out in making the battery training pleasant and interesting. We backed our men in the war in all branches of the service and it is just as needful to maintain that public backing in time of peace for our military units. Business and manufacturing interests should encourage men to join the battery. Recruiting is about to start and we believe it will need impetus from outside as well as from within the recruiting organization if it is to succeed quickly. Surely, after our experience in recent years, it is not the part of good citizenship for any business organization to restrain its men from joining a military unit. The time was when some employers objected to having their men engage in any such work as the military companies, but when times of stress came they were glad to admit that it was mighty good thing to have trained military groups within our limits here. This is a time when we can ill afford to give up our military companies and we would therefore urge upon the community an instantaneous and hearty co-operation with the effort to recruit a good battery in this city.

The Boston Globe Said Sunday, April 25, 1920:

Lowell citizens are showing great interest in its new National Guard unit, Battery B of the 102nd Field Artillery, and there is every indication that a crack outfit will be recruited, composed largely of overseas men, who served in Battery F, which saw 18 months' service in France in all the major offensives.

Captain Winfred C. MacBrayne, who was a member of Governor McCall's staff in 1916 and 1917, has been commissioned battery commander. The Lowell officer went to France in 1917 with the 102nd Field Artillery, later volunteering for the air service, balloon section, serving ten months on the active front and four months with the French. He won the Croix de Guerre, the Distinguished Service Cross and the Military Medal of the Aero Club of America. He was recommended for the Congressional Medal. Captain MacBrayne qualified as a military aeronaut and had several balloons burned over him in action, while regulating artillery fire on enemy targets.

Battery B will open its season with a military ball at the Lowell Armory, at which state and city officials will be invited to look over the new outfit. A prominent Lowell man has already promised to present the battery with its colors.

The Lowell battery plans to have an honorary list of 500 prominent citizens, who will stand behind the organization in its various activities.

To the Business Men of Lowell:

You backed your boys in time of war splendidly.

Will you now support them in time of peace.

Battery B is to have an honorary membership of 500 members, giving the influential men of Lowell an opportunity to show just where they stand with regard to the men "who did their fighting and who stand ready to do it again if necessary."

The annual subscription is $10 and $100 will make you a life member.

An annual military ball will be given the honorary members with music by the 102nd F. A. band. One day in camp will be set aside for the entertainment of our honorary members. There will be other occasions during the year for you to enjoy.

If you want to back us up, mail your check to Battery B, 102nd F. A. State Armory, Lowell, Mass., and your membership card will be forwarded at once.

WINFRED C. MacBRAYNE, Captain Battery Commander.
